Physical Description

Thin, athletic, and very clearly an excessively tall Shukaren Daur of some variety. It isn't the pale, moon-tanned skin or the way her eyes are silver-purple with canine pupils that gives away her heritage, it's her lack of human ears. That lack of human ears, instead having white, ink-dipped vulpine ears that protrude her head, pairs with the array of white-furred, black-tipped fox tails that emerge from the base of her spine, dancing and waving as in possession of a mind of their own. In contrast to the white fur, her hair is as black as night, waist long, and shimmering and rippling like a sheet of falling water. She's never seen without a pair of simple ovoid glasses, the way they balance on her nose and cling without ears to rest on suggesting a very custom job.

Project Ninetails

A black project by Ryu Keiretsu's subsidiary Advancer Enterprises, with financing by Yugumo Corporation to determine exactly how Human a subject needed to be for the Zhenren Human Upgrade Package. Cecily was the voluntary subject. As a Shukaren Daur \(Sub-Species\), her species had been hybridized with the foxlike foite in the distant past, and as such, was 50% human-derived at most, and likely less. The project was a success, outside of the extended recovery period beyond that experienced by more baseline stock such as a Nepleslian. In addition to increasing her height and mass, the augmentation package also caused her vestigial split tails to bloom into nine, full, fluffy, healthy ones.
