She takes them as a part of abwehrans though. Only thing she really dislike about them is their social behaviour. She thinks of this as one of her largest weaknesses.

Father: Matthias Fuchs 17 AY (Smith) Mother: Gertrude Fuchs 19 AY (Theater Actress) Brother: Simon Fuchs 10 AY (Musician)

Pre-RP

Hannelore was born, raised and always lived like a surfer. She was taught how to be dignified, polite and act like a lady. She still had her inner tomboy but she saved that for times when she didn't have to hide it. Her father is a blacksmith and young Han took interest in his work and other thing that came with it. Fencing. That was of course large letdown for her mother who wanted her daughter to be a true lady and become artist like her brother.

Han liked to rather spend time on track field, in a smithy or sport fencing. When deciding her future Han decided to try out in military after seriously thinking it through. Which is why she joined Weltraumflotte and started training to become marine.

She showed to be talented markswoman and athlete as well as acting loyal to abwehran empire. Her instructors saw a moldable material in her and so she was scouted out by Nachrichtendienst. She joined right away. Her training routine changed and she was training to become field agent. Her combat skills were superior to her social one so she was chosen to do a more dirty work. She didn't mind becoming something that was more of an assassin or intelligence gatherer than a spy. Through training and some mild conditioning she became very loyal to empire and expert markswoman and agent. She was sent undercover in CSEIA Defense Forces, as a Weltraumflotte Marine. She was pulled into 69th Paramilitary Squad after short while under Mission Operator Caecilia Oberstein.

When put under Caecilia, Hanne was immediately thrown into some heavy-fighting on the space station. She and other marine by the name of Gisel were on point for group of soldiers. They met heavy resistance and had to defeat several ghost-misshu's by themselves. Upon joinin with others, Hanne and resto of the team met up with rest of 69th squad only to found that 69th squad was sent to rescue Princess Rosenthal. Team met more Ghost Misshui, while trying to get away from station. They got trough most of them, but one of the skirmishes resulted with gaping wound in Hanne's hand.

Luckily Hanne managed to get off the ship and then saved by corpsman in 69th squad named Hetzer. Within a next month, when she was healing her wound she became part of 69th para-military squad officially under Caecilia. Hanne and other newcomers were greeted in restaurant with a lot of alcohol being involved. Which was also why Hannelore happened to spend nigh with Nepleslian named Dragon.

After that, there were several months which consisted of power armor training. The 69th was preparing for a new mission. A boarding action where they took a pirate ship in fancy new armors.
