Physical Description

Age: 19

Body type: Human

Build: Average

Eye color: Blue (Usually covered by her sunglasses, mind you)

Skin color: White

Gender: Female

Hair: Blonde, past her shoulders in length. Mostly straight and free.

Height: 6'2

Species: Genetically/mechanically modified human

Weight: 149 lbs

Body modifications: Bionic arm, altered genetics

Disabilities: Missing some non-vital insides,not too strong, with the exception of her left arm, which was replaced with a mechanical one.

Despite being female, she has a relatively flat chest. She constantly wears a pair of generic anime shades, which hide her cat-like, glowing blue eyes. She wears no makeup, and doesn't have a specific outfit. She usually wears what she has/finds. She has long, sharp canines, and blue veins visible on various parts of her body, although they look more interesting than creepy. She has pointed ears, almost like an elf.

Personality

Personality: Chill, calm, cool, and a bit cocky. Stays emotionally positive... Or is this just a cover-up to her true self? Emotional Trauma does that sometimes. She's interested in biology, especially plants and the human body. She's quite nice and social to people, regardless of race, but she has her moments.

She doesn't have too many goals, other than staying alive and trying to help those around her. She goes where life takes her. When working on something, she usually stays dedicated, but she sometimes gets distracted with other subjects.

Due to her traumatic childhood, she has Post-traumatic stress disorder, and if she ever crosses paths with one of the scientists from her childhood, or if she encounters needles/small sharp objects, she either feels sicks to her stomach, gets increasingly upset, or gets very emotional. She also panics a bit if she loses her sunglasses, which are surprisingly dear to her.

History

Samantha was born in YE 20.

Hailing from an unknown location, Samantha was separated from her family and taken to a top-secret research lab. She was held for experiments, harvested for body parts, constantly monitored, and perhaps even genetically altered. She was constantly shipped to different labs across space, until, by some miracle, she managed to escape and flee into the outside world. Ever since, she's been by herself.

Social Connections

Samantha is connected to: None. Supposedly.

Skills Learned

Communiction skills

Samantha only speaks Trade, and very fluently. She can be a bit persuasive, and is pretty okay at making deals to get what she needs. Manipulation can be easy for her, but she isn't perfect.

Physical abilities

Samantha is quite skilled with her katana, but there are surely better people out there. Due to her enhanced/altered genetics, she is surprisingly agile, fast, and has excellent night vision. She has sharp claws, which are surprisingly sharp, despite being on a human.She has great reflexes, but lacks physical strength.

Inventory & Finance

Samantha has the following items:

*1 Steel katana of unknown orgin. Has a silver hilt, and is one of the few weapons Samantha's actually kind of good at. *An average-sized backpack, for carrying stuff.
