Physical Description

Zeck stands at 5'6" with a decent build from working in the mechanical field. she has black hair and purple eyes and freckles. She has pointed ears and sharp teeth as well as red skin that is fire-resistant. Zeck's race is also comfortable in high temperatures but suffers in colder climates.

Personality

Zeck loves anything mechanical and she enjoys fixing things. she has a lack of self-confidence and has anxiety issues but she hyper-fixates on things related to engineering. If there is one she can be counted on and that is to fix the object even if there is a firefight raging around her or if she has put her hands in literal fire to do. It is not uncommon to see Zeck smiling or grinning and showing her teeth this is a natural response when she is nervous or anxious and people have used this in the past to try and add a tough face to meetings despite her not being tough. Zeck also loves to be around loud places especially engine rooms as they are not only loud but sometimes hot as well.

History

Zeck D'rakol was born 13日 8月 23. Zeck was born on her world a hot planet with technology comparable to that of the nuclear age. She was born with traits of the males and females of her race a rare genetic flaw that in the ancient past would have seen her disposed of. Regardless Zeck grew up and learned about mechanics and engineering. Despite not being neglected she was viewed on her world to be undesirable to either sex so when smugglers came to her world she quickly joined the crew and left her world behind despite having scholarships to many universities. She does send letters home and money in the form of rare metals when she can afford them to her family.
