Physical Description

Micalio stands slightly higher than the average Daur at 5ft tall and has a slim figure with measurements 30b-25-28 and weighs 60kg. She has white skin complimented by red eyes with red ears and hair with the end of her fur having a tinge of white, her tail is orange with a red tip. Micalio's hair is kept short and thick with a swept back fringe and the end dipping just below her neck with her short ears poking out the top.

Usually dressed in a tank top with a utility vest to hold her tools and other equipment while leaving her arms room to move and work, a set of cargo shorts and a loose-fitting cap when not in uniform, she can also be found wearing a pair of fingerless gloves and mask in some situations when working on machines.

Her face is round and cheerful with full lips usually coloured red, soft eyes and full cheeks without looking too big, hey eyes are almost always hidden behind transparent goggles which dull their appearance due to her weakened sight.

Personality

Micalio is naturally friendly and cheerful and will hold a conversation with anyone she feels comfortable around, adjusting to strangers can take her some time however and she will usually be more cautious and shy around those she hasn't had much interaction with.

As a machine enthusiast she is always interesting in new devices and machines to take apart and see how they work, she maintains an air of seriousness while working but is usually laid back during and outside of working.

History

Pre-RP

Micalio was born into a more averaged sized family than some however she was the only child for the first 4 years of her life as the two siblings she was to be born with did not survive childbirth, she was cherished by her parents for those 4 quiet years before the batch of 10 arrived over the course of several years. When the other siblings arrived Micalio was forced to step up and assist in parenting as her own parents were not always able to care for all of them with such a low age gap in the 10.

At the age of 9 she joined the youth corp in order to pursue her natural desire to learn and further her mechanical knowledge, thanks to her naturally weakened eyesight from birth Micalio had been disadvantaged for most of her life but was able to gain a set of goggles to counter the negative effects when she joined the corp. Her first assignment involved maintaining the equipment of her post along with learning how to maintain the fighters.

At the age of 14 Micalio returned to her parents for her coming of age ceremony and to meet with her siblings before enlisting in the navy where she served as a combat technician, in her first mission she remained removed from actual combat for the most part and was tasked with being the only field repair operative. As a passionate engineer and vital support role within her post Micalio didn't often get the chance to fight on the front lines but was not exempt from combat her whole life either, having seen her fair share of carnage on the battlefield with damaged ships containing mangled pilots and all manner of other horrors.

During the last mission on her original posting several of her team mates were injured while another couldn't leave the ground in a faulty fighter during a surprise ambush, the situation tested her loyalties as Micalio was forced to choose her job or her team. Having a greater understanding of machines gave her the insight she needed as she risked her own life to bring the wounded back to the relative safety of the field ops center where they were treated, while her actions to save her team mates were recognized so too was the abandonment of her official duty. As a result she was reassigned to SNV Furi'ken, instead of facing military court marshaling her actions of bravery had earned her a second chance, one where she would be more at liberty to help others as well as do her own job in a much smaller environment.

Skills Learned

Engineering - Having worked with machines of all sizes from ships down to the intricate inner workings of personal devices Micalio is a capable engineer and mechanic with the knowledge and experience to troubleshoot and, given the right tools, fix most equipment.

Cooking - Growing up in a large family and being the eldest she would often help her mother prepare meals for the family and for certain occasions, over time she developed basic knowledge of cooking and is able to create almost any dish given a set of instructions.

Combat - Having grown up and joined the youth corp and later the navy as a combat engineer, during her time in the youth corp she had needed to learn CQC and had become proficient with many ranged weapons as well with a particular interest in the long range type.

Technology Operation - Along with being adept in fixing and maintaining equipment, Micalio had to learn the ins and outs of operating the technology and equipment she serviced including weapons, vehicles and in some cases small shuttles. Her knowledge also extends to basic manipulation of software and digital systems but only enough for her to do her job.

Knowledge - Going through the youth corp and some standard education Micalio understands the laws and workings of the world she was born into along with her native language, due to her military involvement her knowledge on legal issues is slightly above the standard citizen.
