Physical Description

Dion is a rather tall (6' 2) and strong Caelisolan with pale skin and an imposing stature. His wine red hair is cut rather short and is often waxed to one side, with a sharp anchor beard outlining the edges of his angular face. His narrow eyes are a deep amber color. He weighs in just a bit over average for a Caelisolan.

Dion's wings are a similar color to his hair, a deep red with an almost unnatural purple sheen to them in the light. They are moderately sized, quite flexible and strong.

Personality

Dion can be described as a tactful and observant mind wrapped in old-fashioned muscle, with both being quite apparent. One who prefers to be taken seriously, Dion can be a very helpful and frank when it comes to the matters of mission and etiquette. Despite his personality often coming across as cold or harsh, Dion is a man who cares for those he looks over and works with. Serving in the Star Army for many years and acting as a security chief in Elysia beforehand, he has knowledgeable experience about many things, including leading teams.

As such, it can sometimes seem hard for Dion to loosen up, especially in the bridge. It is possible to see a warmer side of him, particularly for those who spend more time with him. He isn't antisocial, just professional. And professionals have standards.

History

Pre-RP

Dion was born in YE 10, within the territory of the Elysian Celestial Empire after the genocide of the heavens in the First Elysian War. Living his life in a recovering family of plebeians, Dion was able to see a little more of the intellectual world than those before him would. Dion lived his childhood on the move from the remnants of the old Elysian settlements to the bustling, still-developing cities of New Elysia. Taking an active interest in strategy and card games, Dion found himself serving internships in various security departments, which budded into a career of corporate security.

Thanks to his insider position as a security chief in one of Elysia's leading biotech firm, Dion was eligible to receive a Caelisolans upgrade a few months before the project became publicly available, and has some minor differences between other Caelisolans. He was given a fair amount of customization over his new body, and is slightly closer to a Patriciaan standard than a Plebeian. Dion continued his work for a few years, before retiring. His retirement from the field was short however, as he was soon enlisted into the Star Army of Yamatai in early YE 37. Serving on a gunship for two years, Dion was picked up by Star Army Military Police, chosen to help operate one of their newly minted ships, the YSS Wyvern. Accepting the deal, Dion was placed in the bridge as a Warrant Officer, at Santo Juni.
