Personality

From 'birth' through deployment, Weiss has been obsessed with heroes. An avid reader of old eddas and modern manga/comics alike, she quickly arrived at her life's goal: to not just read about heroes, but to become one herself.

To that end, she has modeled herself in the image of her favorite heroes, taking on their personality traits as her own. She highly values truth and justice, views appropriate violence as an acceptable means to an end, and seeks out evil and corruption wherever it can be found.

She has a few habits that follow this trend, such as posing, speaking dramatically, or looking at an imagined audience. Weiss has been known to narrate when left to herself.

When events come up, particularly social ones, that don't fit into her pre-defined worldview, she can become uncomfortable and flip between shy and over-the-top boisterous as a way to compensate for her lack of knowledge.

History

Edelweiss history has been largely training-focused. She was an avid student during her combat and practical lessons, but showed much less interest when it came to areas of academia. Her interest in stories and comics have given her a deeper appreciation for all things related to computers, however.
