Physical Description

Ume has medium-length purple hair that reaches her upper back, and is almost always kept in either a bun or tail. She has bright, vivid green eyes that sparkle when she is happy. Her skin is pale but tinted blue and she has a slim figure with a semi-busty C-Cup breasts and a small derriere.

Her height is 5'3" and she weighs about 110 pounds.

Personality

A capable woman, this officer chooses to keep herself cool and collected rather than excitable or quick to react. She tends to have a slightly domineering attitude while in command, never taking lip nor whine from any of her pilots. She does listen though, and takes an interest in her pilots to an almost motherly level. When in the position of authority she comes off as the top dog, and never seems to release from that hold.

History

Fukugumi Ume was born in YE 35 on Nataria and went to train to be a Star Army Pilot after basic training. She opted to go through the Academy to become an officer. Her first squadron was christened Heartbreak squadron and was station on YSS Ultimatum. Due to the Taisa in charge's ice cold femme fatale attitude and as naive as she was at the time, she fell under her in multiple situations and learned her mistakes every turn. This caused her to becoming somewhat submissive to her but one sortie when the flight lead did not return, Ume took up the slack hard and of her own accord. This led to her becoming interim flight leader and leading the first Heartbreak Squadron until early YE 38 where Heartbreak was temporarily disbanded and moved into reserve status as the First Expeditionary Fleet began to signal a change. In early YE 39 Ume, having lost all of her personal friends to other squadrons and posts, was assigned to the aging YSS Imperator. She turned the somewhat disorganized Avatar squadron into her version of Heartbreak and became CAG.

After serving with the Imperator and her pilots, Heartbreak squadron was moved to Orochi Squadron to serve as their leading squadron while they were assigned to Task Force 0.
