History

Born in YE 40 in the Fujiko, Hugh "Thunder" Cox is the sole viable result of Dr. X \(Ravi Mendoza\)'s efforts to revive ID-SOL clones for the Nepleslian Reds. Not so much to help the Reds, but more in personal bragging rights that he was capable of doing it to secure more funding for the things he actually cared about.

Dr. X used Raijin Type Artificial Nepleslian DNA and went through complicated process of creating a hybrid from a complete ID-SOL sample secured by X. But despite the introduction of the super-Y chromosome to the Raijin Type, Dr. X failed in discovering the secret to the creation of he ID-SOL's complex genome. Hugh was the 100th clone to be attempted and the one one that managed to keep his sanity. But Dr. X quickly lost interest in the idea given the Red leadership was not interested in the hybrid that was inferior to their own Raijin Types.

Not completely uncaring to the new life that was created, Dr. X spent a year teaching Hugh how to not to be another meat head Nepleslian before he handed him 3,000 KS and punted him into the Kikyo Sector. He also spent a lot of time with the children of Dr. X's White Wolves, gaining the nickname of Uncle Hugh.
