Physical Characteristics

Height: 6'2 Mass: 125 lbs Measurements:

Build and Skin Colour: Kael, like all Plebeians, looks lean. This is not to say that he looks undernourished, or indeed weak, merely lean, wiry and somewhat light. However upon closer inspection it is obvious that his body is very compactly muscular despite its lightness - another characteristic feature of the Plebeian. His skin is chalk white.

Facial Features and Eye Colour: Kael's face is more sharply angular than the the majority of Plebeians, although it is certainly not an unattractive face. It increases the look of alieness, but is also etherealy handsome in its own way. His eyes are purest white.

Hair Colour and Style: Kael's hair is grey and he wears it in five shoulder length braids.

Distinguishing Features: Kael has two cresent tattoos encircling the bottom of his eyes, and another one on each cheek.

Psychological Characteristics

Personality: Kael is a rather detached individual, indeed he might seem cold to one who had just met him. However this is really a facade, or perhaps a shield, erected partially through experience and partially through training to protect him against the effect that the deaths which war must contain, and the limitations of his job, would have on his highly compassionate personality. However, upon growing to know someone, he tends to let down the facade and assuming a more fatherlike one instead - he does have a rather irritating habit of taking the high ground morally. He takes a keen interest in biological science, as do most Elysian medics, and also like most of them spends a lot of his free time tinkering with genetic models, designing theoretical organisms, and not so theoretical ones. Some might think this was 'playing God', Kael likes to think of it as something approaching worship. As with other Elysians Kael is highly devote, and is prone to spending at least an hour a day in prayer/meditation, which he finds is a magnificent stress reliever.

Likes: God, men, women, the Empire, healing, Strawberries. Dislikes: Death, Sin, ugliness. Goals: To design something which will reduce the amount of death amongst Elysians.
