-name- in Roleplay

-Karus Katalan- is a Player Character played by Kai and is currently involved in the plot Thule task force.

Physical Characteristics

Height: 6'0 Mass: 125

Build and Skin Colour: Karus is very thin and lanky. That is not to say he is not muscular, simply lean. His skin is tanned, indicating his enjoyment of the outside world and being in the sun when not on duty in a starship. In contrast with his skin his wings are of the purest white and finely pruned.

Facial Features and Eye Colour: Though a Plebeian Karus has the sharply angled feature of a Patrician, perhaps suggesting some shameful fall from grace in his family's past. However his face is normally adorned with a warm smile and kindly look that would look alien on a Patrician. His eyes are a steely grey giving him a sense of depth to add to his kind features.

Hair Colour and Style: His hair is Grey and very long, coming to the small of his back. It is tied near the bottom in back, with the bangs cut very short. Two sections in front of his ears also come down to just above his waist, and have small golden clips at their ends. These are usually kept in front of his arms.

Distinguishing Features: Oddly, for a Plebeian, Karus has fairly good sized white wings, which are just big enough to allow him to glide on occasion, when the winds are right. He is also slightly taller than many Plebeians.

Psychological Characteristics

Personality: Karus is a very kind person, And is Equally kind to everyone, even those he views as inferior. He is quick to befriend and very loyal to those he respects. Being a Plebeian, however, he has a natural tendency to be submissive around Patricians, but tries his best to not do so, as he views himself as nearly Patrician himself. Recently, the new strength he gained by joining the ECN has given him a better sense of self, and the idea that he is not inferior, making him rather brave, and calm even in stressful situations.

Likes: Travelling, The sun, Gliding on air currents and fixing things Dislikes: being stationary, Overbearing people, people with superiority complexes, and dirtying his wings. Goals: To travel as far and wide as possible, protect his nation and way of life.

History

Pre-RP

Karus grew up being taught kindness. He was raised by a loving family and grew up rather happy. However, after a time he grew tired of staying in the city which was his home, and longed to travel. Knowing their son wished dearly to travel, his parents raised money for him to go on a trip. Seeing how he enjoyed this very much, but his family was poor, he decided to join the ECN so he could see the stars and travel with the government's Aureas. He also joined out of a wish to protect his nation, and therefore the lifestyle he grew up with.

Skills

Fighting

Karus is an exceptional combatant, with training in spears, swords, shields and given a gruelling training course upon joining the ECN. He is trained in pistols, rifles and grenades, and is capable of using all of these effectively and efficiently. He is also trained in the use of Aspis infantry shields. Karus has had training in Power Armor combat, as well.

Pilot (Powered Armour, Shuttles)

Karus has been trained in the use of a Hikael Power Armour. He is capable of using it effectively and efficiently in combat. In addition, Karus is capable of piloting a shuttle, having been trained in the ability in case a dedicated shuttle pilot is unavailable. He can fly one, but not do anything fancy.

Communications

Karus is trained in using radio equipment, inter-ship communications, and issuing and following orders under normal circumstances, and while under fire. He is usually calm and collected when speaking, even under stressful situations.

Survival

Karus is trained to be capable of surviving on his own in the outdoors. He is capable of building shelters and starting fires when necessary. He is capable of finding food in the wilderness, and capable of finding his way if long travel is needed.

Physical

Karus is trained in 'Pankration', the Elysian unarmed martial art which is partially wrestling. he is rather strong, and capable of lifting rather heavy objects. he has the stamina to run for miles without trouble, though at times he may use his wings to aid him.

Navigation

Loving travel, Karus spent much of his free time going over star maps and ground maps and learning how to read and use both. He is capable of finding his way using landmarks on the ground, and can successfully navigate a starship with the help of a calculator to find exact vectors, as he is not quite versed in mathematics himself.

Technology operation (Maintenance)

Karus is trained in the ins and outs of his Hikael Power armor, and is capable of doing minor repairs in the field, with the proper tools, of course. he is also capable of diagnosing and fixing minor problems in most

Elysian weaponry, once again with the proper tools necesarry, however.

OOC Discussion

Something to note about his family's history is that one of his ancestors was a Patrician who fell from grace, making the family have many Patrician features, regardless of it's plebian status.

This character is possibly temporary, meant to help revive Elysia with its new plot
