History

Family (or Creators)

her creator was a woman that she calls mama even though she is a young adult, her mama was called Nakayama Emi and wanted to make non natural Minkans.

Pre-RP

Kioko's childhood was weird to say the least, because of her looks compared to a normal Yamataian she was shunned by most, Nekos were more understanding to her and all her friends were Nekos and Minkans who got use to her looks for a long time. She has only had a mother and thought the use of a father was more just to create the baby not to look after the child, the snake DNA in her body made her different to the female Minkans because she has more muscle and less fat, making her body look vaguely masculine plus the fact that she had male DNA didn't help her case at all. While her mother taught her everything she would need to know to get into the academy, so she had less time for socialising with her friends, but the teaching helped a lot and she was better at the physical aspects of day to day life more than the written and actual learning aspects, but it got slowly better with time while she was growing up.

Her mother was strict and impatient when she failed so now Kioko feels that everything she needs to do has to be perfect no matter what it is, this made her friends feel weird around her a bit more as it seemed like an over the top version of OCD for everything, it calmed down a bit while at the academy but was still there just not as over the top. Her most valued possession was a gold chain with a little heart shaped locket which when opened had a picture of her and 4 Nekos all in their uniforms and hugging each other, she cared for all her friends and if anything happens to any of her friends she would blame herself even if she wasn't near them.

Throughout her life at the academy she had odd looks from other students and some teachers because of her looks and voice, she hated it and wished that she could stay and learn with her mother because of the looks she received from the others. When she finished her studies and graduated from the academy she was bounced between ships because she 'didn't do her job properly' which to her loosely translated to, her looks creeped out every and they wanted her gone.

RP

Kioko was going on a mission to destroy a NMX base when suddenly the ship she was serving on was stuck and destroyed by the NMX, she was sent through space as her jets didn't kick in for a while then she finally got the thrusters going, she was close to a shuttle so she used her thrusters to reach it then requested entrance, a few moments later she was inside with other soldiers. When they made it to planetside she helped the the others on planetside but firstly fighting normally then leading the NMX away helping the others but inguring herself in the process. After she went into a warehouse with Meiko Lee and Ume Hatoyama to check what was there, some of the NMX where barricaded there. The three girl's fought until the NMX surrendered then they took them outside and waited for the shuttles to come so they could get back on the Soyokaze.

She was accepted onto the Soyokaze and has been doing odd jobs and bonding with the crew, the Soyokaze had suddenly been attacked by a disease that is spreading around everyone and Kioko is helping the Doctors on board find out how to help, the illness creeping up on her slowly.
