Personality

Naika is an ISTJ<sup>2)</sup> personality type, which emulates behavior and practices she learned during her time with the Yaducath Intelligence Agency. Innately she is prone to approach things in a calm and detailed manner. Her responses tend to stay along the lines of tradition and law, unless it crosses with where her loyalties lie. Some may find her approach to things as a shell of protection for herself, this is because she does not let people close to her haphazardly. She does not like those that dance around masking their intentions, those that do are found to have ulterior motives and therefore wasting time that could be spent elsewhere.

History

Naika Rae, now Naika Caeyara, was born in Noria in YE 02, her childhood spanned the years of the Space Race and Colonization of Ayenee. Her parents were actively involved in the colonial effort of Ayenee and she spent her time back and forth between the new world and the homeworld. In YE 22 she joined the Norian Defense Education School and completed her officer training with the intention of entering the military, she however never made it to active service. In YE 25 with the outbreak of the First Umarian War, the Yaducath Intelligence Agency<sup>3)</sup> recruited her to join an operations group devoted to the analysis of threats against the capital worlds.

Although in an Intelligence Analysis position at a desk, Naika was responsible for the translation of field intelligence which accurately predicted the invasion of Noria by the Umarians in YE 29. In reward for a job well done she was then promoted and added to the intelligence detail responsible for the protection of the Imperial bloc. After several years of service, Naika met the son of Tetsuya Eitan \(Airwin Caeyara\), Uaeso Eitan, and later was declared Volaer Tylys<sup>4)</sup> following their marriage in YE 40.

In YE 44, during the Arrival of the Norians in the Kikyo Sector, Naika had been placed in stasis by Uaeso Eitan to relieve her from the suffering of starvation on the arks. When the Star Army of Yamatai arrived to provide aid and assistance, Uaeso had her revived. A short time after things had somewhat settled she accompanied her husband onboard the ISS Aiathogu in the beginning of YE 45.

While checking over inventory making a slight detour to check on the slyphs. This plan was derailed by an emergent communication from Aphelion about VIP life signs detected on MERN Keigonyo. As she made plans to board the ship she was knocked unconscious by an unknown source, who she assumed to be Rivaen. When she came to it was discovered that someone had rather harshly did the same to not only herself, but Uaeso as well. This initially made her rather curt when Rivaen tried to communicate with them after they escaped the pens he had stashed them in.

Assurances on both parts that further unnecessary violence would be avoided she begrudgingly followed along to attend the meeting. During the meeting several truths were revealed that caused her position on the matter to shift dramatically. Uaeso joined the UNN, she slipped right back into her work with the Yaducath Intelligence agency. Following in her husband's lead she changed her surname to Eitan and shortly after became pregnant with a baby girl.
