- Height: 4'9"

- Measurements: 37(30G)-25-45

Standing at 4'9" and weighing 125 pounds, Ayane is a short and voluptuous woman with a heavily exaggerated hourglass profile and a set of thick thighs, accentuated by a plump, protruding rear. She has scarless skin, with a tan beige complexion shade. Her hair falls to the middle of her back and has a vantablack-shade and a straight texture. It is most often worn in a pompadour ponytail. She has thin and highly arched<sup>2)</sup> eyebrows, and her eyes are almond-shaped and wide set, with rare bright pink irises. Her nose is thin and is slightly turned up when viewed from the side. She has plump lips, but her mouth has a narrow width. Ayane's jawline is strongly tapered towards her chin, which gives her face a heart-shaped profile. She has elf-style ears, which are human-sized, but are sharply pointed at their apex.

Personality

Yamasaki Ayane keeps herself out of social engagements, preferring to observe them from afar. During socialization training, Ayane never quite lost this trait, but her mentor, Hotaru-Shoi, gave Ayane the skills to proficiently socialize with individuals when required. One slightly annoying habit that developed as a side effect of Hotaru-Shoi's mentorship during Ayane's socialization training is the ability to genuinely laugh at anything mildly humorous. Despite her shyness, Ayane attracts attention when she laughs, because she is often the only person to laugh at a bad joke or an awkward social situation. However, due to her observant nature, Ayane is hyper-aware of social atmosphere, and does not exhibit this behavior during inappropriate social situations.

History

Pre-RP

Created in YE 38 on Nataria at the Nataria Fleet Depot, Yamasaki Ayane underwent socialization training at Fort Ready. Shy, withdrawn, and observant, Ayane had extended difficulties with socialization training. During her first 30 days, when asked to report to superior officers regarding the details of required social experiences, Ayane instead gave reports of social interactions she witnessed, often reporting on her own extensive analysis of conversations. A training officer, Hotaru-Shoi, took notice of this tendency and discussed with Ayane about the possibility of a career as an Star Army Intelligence Operative. However, Hotaru-Shoi's suggestion did little to motivate Ayane because of the career's necessity for highly developed social skills. Subsequently, Ayane spent an extra 20 days in socialization trainings, because she consistently failed to directly engage in conversations. Ayane decided that she wanted to become a Starfighter Pilot on her 30th day of socialization training when she became enthralled at a fighter group conducting a training exercise in the atmosphere. Once again, she failed to pass her socialization requirements that day and was sternly reprimanded by a training officer (Hotaru-Shoi) who witnessed her observing the fighter formations. Deducing from her observations that Ayane would want to become a starfighter pilot, Hotaru-Shoi reminded Ayane that she would never fly if she did not pass socialization training. Driven by a refreshed resolve and a new motivation, with the constant assistance and encouragement of Hotaru-Shoi, Ayane completed a backlog of 25 days of socialization requirements in 20 days. During this period, Hotaru-Shoi and Ayane became close associates. Hotaru-Shoi introduced Ayane to the violin, and gave her student some beginning lessons. After Ayane finished socialization training, she performed to expectations in all phases of basic training. Having completed basic and socialization trainings, Hotaru-Shoi personally congratulated Ayane, and gave her kohai (informal student) a model of a Ke-V6-2A "Hayabusa II" Starfighter and an electric violin and bow. Ayane then went to Fort Hanako on Hanako's World to complete pilot training, distinguishing herself from her peers in simulations and trials.
