

Basketball Drone

Although it is identical to a Basketball in terms of outside appearance, it is actually a sophisticated drone made with civilian gravity manipulation technology. It is designed to spend most of it's time behaving exactly as a basketball of its size and weight would. However, when activated, it will fly to a spot that the user designates. The basic model does not incorporate any kind of collision avoidance system. For those without the innate ability to interface with computers, they can use an app or a watch like control mechanism.
