

Jargon Multiuse Standard Gas Cartridge

The Jargon Multiuse Standard Gas Cartridge is a cartridge of Jargon gas, something first discovered frozen deep within the North pole of Jui'varen II by Galactic Horizon in YE 41; it is a gas most closely resembling 'Easily excitable super Argon'¹⁾ with properties that wildly change when the gas is excited in different ways – making it the perfect one-magazine system for their two upcoming plasma-based sidearms.

depending on the system and how much charge is put through it, with higher tiers requiring more power, the recoil similarly scales upwards with higher tiers
