

Standard Large Warship Engineering

A large Horizontal facility that takes up two decks on its own, the Large Warship Engineering section can be found on starships of Battleship size or even space stations. Even then, multiple engineering sections can be found on a single design ranging from two to even fifty for the much larger stations. Unlike the other Engineering sections of smaller ships, the Large Engineering Section does not contain a Shield Generator due to the fact that Sectional Defense Field needs to be placed in various parts of the vessel for total coverage.
