

Chelti 6mm AR T Ammunition

Common, unremarkable self-destroying tracer ammunition used in 6mm assault rifles, found commonly around any users of the weapon and not particularly difficult to find or make. Some rounds may have oxidizer pellets mixed into its powder charge to ensure detonation in exoplanetary conditions. It is mostly manufactured in multiple chelti arms depots and has been used for over thirty years during pre-space age wars. It sells for less than 80KS per 100 round box.
