

LSDF Large Galley

Designed to serve as a main location of the preparation of food in an installation or on a starship, the 'Large Galley' has been designed to allow a minimal number of workers to produce the optimal amount of food for large numbers of individuals seeking a meal. Large galleys include Emfratec Cooking Technology, large refrigeration units, organic meat processing stations, Organic Tissue Culture Technology, and various cooking apparatuses and appliances which are designed for the rapid preparation of foodstuffs. While being excellent for the production of massive quantities of food, the large galley is not an ideal location to grab a midnight snack due to the sheer size of the equipment present being inefficient in the preparation of smaller quantities of food.
