A standard issue bow made available to Neshaten military soldiers and citizens who are bow-masters, or masters are using the Energy Bow, the Military Bow comes stocked with most of the equipment needed for it to be used in wartime and in a military capacity.

The bow is made out of a lightweight composite material, with its framework reinforced twice to withstand the high-volume of fire it could potentially go through. It has electronics that the trainer bow lacks, including a sighting mechanism that can be attached to the left or right side of the bow, and connection ports for soldiers to hook the bow up to their helmets to relay to them a heads up display reticle.

This bow is designed to fire all manners of energy bolts, including trainer bolts for use in training exercises.

Differences

The military bow's color is different from that of the other two bows, it's light brown with the top and bottom halves where the energy crystals rest being the same color as the rest of the bow. However, unlike the trainer bow, the military bow can be disassembled easily for transport and reassembled on site.

The Military Bow is a standard issue to infantrymen and bow-masters. It's made out of a composite material that improves it's strengthness and durability. The Military Bow has electronics that allows a soldier to hook their bow up to their helmet to present to them a heads up display, which makes targetting and tracking of energy bolts easier.
