Description

Lovefruit is a pink fruit that grows on a type of Yamataian evergreen. It is a modified pine cone. It tastes like “apples in syrup” and is crisp like a pepper on the outside but sticky and moist inside. It goes well with cinnamon. Lovefruit pine trees bloom continuously from mid spring to early fall.

Usage

It is tradition to make Lovefruit cider in the fall, and lovefruit ice cream in the summer.

Lovefruit flavor is also found in some Yamataian beverages such as “Dr. Poppy.”
