

Nyx's Villa

This Villa type building is located within the Property line, on Sirris VI only about half a meter walk from the gates to the front door. Chosen for its beauty and its location as well as its features. Nyx fell in love with the place almost immediately and made sure that it suits her well.¹⁾

House info

The house is fitted with the latest in-home hardware, as well as the advanced in computer software. Because Nyx is already an AI, and because of the NDC's stance on Synthetic workers, there was no AI installed on the house's computers. That's because the electronics within is voice activated, set to Nyx's voice, Ezriel's voice as well as that of her family.

For the comfort of those cold-blooded visitors, specifically the queen of Nyx's 'heart' there is a Heating Unit installed within the maintenance center of the House, that allows heat to radiate throughout the home. This was more for Ezriel's comfort, but since she wanted to use her organic form for pleasure she needed a warm place, and it would keep her systems from freezing. Within the private area, there is technology that allows people to lounge and rest, without the worry that someone would take an unwanted picture of them.

The house has a laser defense system, various airtight partitions, and a filtered air intake. It can also analyze airborne materials. If an intruder breaks in, intending to harm, the residents will be shielded and transported to a safe area, while the intruder gets hit with a force of a billion times normal planet gravity to crush them completely, before machines clean the area.

Interior

Below is the interior of Nyx's home

Foyer room

The Foyer of the Villa is an open concept area with two roman style columns at the doorway, and one additional one at the end of the room, this border the Foyer to the kitchen to the northeast the Starship style elevator to the west. The hall to the Repair workshop could be seen between the elevator and the retaining wall which has an NDC flag on it, and the sign for the Military. Close to the door was the designated living room type area, where there were a couch and a chair along with a small table in front of them which held a flickering vase and flowers.

The coloring matches NDC colors of red and black in the furniture, the floor wasn't black or red, but the walls did somewhat follow that theme.

Kitchen

✘ The Kitchen is pretty spacious with enough room for two people to work in, and they won't need to worry about getting in the way unless they both need the stove or something. on the counters there were the futuristic devices some replicated from the Anvil's Kitchen area and a fridge and cupboard to store certain food or cups.

The kitchen can be seen from the Foyer and be able to have conversations when two were in both rooms. there is one closet which is filled with Cleaning items and Chemical based items

The Study

The Study in Lady Nyx Pine's Villa is a sprawling haven for knowledge enthusiasts, a sanctuary where ✘ the past and the future converge harmoniously. As you step into the room, your senses are immediately enveloped by the scent of aged paper intermingling with the subtle hum of electronic devices. The ambiance is one of serene intellect, where every element is meticulously crafted to inspire curiosity and contemplation.

Along the walls, towering bookshelves stand proudly, adorned with volumes of wisdom spanning centuries. Ancient tomes with weathered spines share space with sleek e-readers, reflecting Lady Nyx Pine's reverence for both tradition and innovation. Each book holds within its pages a wealth of knowledge, waiting to be discovered and explored.

At the back center of the room stands an ornate wooden desk, a masterpiece of craftsmanship that exudes elegance and sophistication. The surface, polished to a radiant sheen, beckons you to delve into the mysteries that lie within its confines. A comfortable chair, plush and inviting, sits patiently beside the desk, offering respite to weary seekers of knowledge.

As you take a seat, a subtle whirring fills the air, and before you materializes a marvel of modern technology: a Volumetric display, hovering effortlessly above the desk. With a wave of your hand, the display springs to life, revealing a cornucopia of information and data, all at your fingertips. Here, the past meets the future in a seamless union, where the wisdom of the ages is juxtaposed with the cutting-edge tools of tomorrow.

In Lady Nyx Pine's Study, time seems to stand still, allowing one to lose themselves in the endless pursuit of knowledge and enlightenment. It is a place where scholars and thinkers alike gather to unravel the mysteries of the universe, guided by the gentle guidance of Lady Nyx Pine herself, a patron of intellect and wisdom.

Repair area

✘ The Gynoid Maintenance Chamber within Lady Nyx Pine's domain is a space of intricate craftsmanship and meticulous attention to detail. As you step into the room, you are greeted by a symphony of whirs and clicks, the unmistakable sounds of mechanical ingenuity at work. Gynoid parts of various shapes and sizes adorn the walls, arranged with precision for easy access and removal.

In one corner of the chamber lies a dedicated workstation for repair work, equipped with an array of specialized tools and diagnostic equipment. Here, Lady Nyx Pine meticulously tends to the needs of her mechanical companions, and herself, ensuring that each component functions flawlessly.

Scattered around the room are boxes containing broken parts awaiting disposal, a testament to Lady Nyx Pine's commitment to maintaining the integrity of her creations. Every piece, no matter how small or insignificant, is treated with the utmost care and respect.

Dominating the center of the chamber stands a remarkable piece of technology: a Honeycomb Fabricator, reminiscent of those found aboard Lady Nyx Pine's ship. This marvel of engineering allows her to effortlessly create new parts or pieces, ensuring that her Gynoids remain in peak condition at all times.

The chamber is bathed in brilliant light, illuminating every corner and crevice with a warm, inviting glow. Lady Nyx Pine understands the importance of visibility in her work, ensuring that every detail is scrutinized with utmost clarity.

This chamber serves as more than just a workshop; it is a sanctuary where Lady Nyx Pine's mechanical creations are nurtured and cared for with unwavering devotion. Here, secrets are kept, and vulnerabilities are shielded from prying eyes, allowing Lady Nyx Pine to maintain her reputation as a master of her craft.

Upstairs

Using a lift, in which they need only say the command of up they can get to the upper floors. On this floor had a visible doorway, which was clearly Nyx's bedroom, and besides, that hidden behind a barrier was an extra bedroom, possibly one for children should Nyx and her girlfriend be successful. There was a set of chairs with a table that made the area a small sitting area, possibly for a more private conversation.

Nyx's Room

Her room is a recreation of the one she had on her ship, doorway, which opens up to an office on the right side, with a private terminal where she can read and review old email sent from anywhere. The chair to sit on wasn't comfortable by Nepsilian or Geshrin standards. To the left of the terminal, is a fish tank with fishes inside, but these were robotic fish not real with pre-programmed behavior.

A foot in front of the Doorway is three stairs that bring one into her actual room. Unlike the room on her ship, while it did have her recharge bay, it also had a queen-sized bed, that she can lay on and perhaps cuddle with a certain Separa'shan. Closer towards the door, was her bathroom where there's a shower big enough for two to be in comfortable. She did have a sofa on the wall, attached to her office where she can sit and read an assortment of books from her library, or she can lounge back because the model shelf across the wall, can double as a screen, where she can watch movies or watch news reports. The screen has a direct link to her father and mother's office for a video conference if she wanted to.

She also had a sound system that can play all manner of music that she has a mood for. She does have a dresser filled with clothes. There is also a photograph of her family on a table on the side, and one of Ezriel. The room had a dark blue and white color theme to it.

She has a closet for her clothes, as well as a section reserved for Ezriel.

Basement

The Basement level of the villa is a hidden treasure trove of luxurious amenities, cleverly utilizing the generous space afforded by the main level above. As one descends the staircase, they are greeted by an air of exclusivity and refinement that permeates every corner of this subterranean sanctuary.

To the right, mirroring the location of the Kitchen above, lies the opulent Wine cellar, a haven for oenophiles and connoisseurs alike. Its entrance, marked by an elegant archway, beckons guests to explore its meticulously curated collection of rare vintages and prized varietals, ensconced within rows of mahogany wine racks bathed in soft, ambient lighting.

Beside the Wine cellar entrance, a discreet passage leads to a private training area, concealed from prying eyes and distractions. Here, amidst the hum of state-of-the-art fitness equipment and the crisp scent of freshly polished wood floors, residents can embark on their personal journey towards physical mastery, honing their skills and sculpting their bodies in privacy and seclusion.

On the left-hand side of the basement, a spacious storage area awaits, offering ample room to stow away belongings and keepsakes with ease and organization. Its shelves and cabinets stand ready to accommodate everything from seasonal decor to cherished heirlooms, ensuring that every item finds its rightful place within the villa's embrace.

Directly ahead, beyond the storage area, lies the entrance to a hidden gem: a private beach area nestled within a natural cavern.

Training Area

Descending deeper underground into the basement level of the villa, a hidden enclave of vitality and strength awaits, where the echoes of determination and the whispers of ambition resonate within the spacious training area. Here, the air is charged with the energy of potential, as residents immerse themselves in a realm dedicated to the cultivation of mind, body, and spirit.

At the heart of this subterranean sanctuary lies a sprawling sparring arena, bathed in the soft glow of ambient lighting that dances across the polished floors. The arena beckons warriors of all stripes to test their mettle and hone their skills amidst the controlled chaos of combat, while spectators look on from the comfort of plush seating lining the perimeter.

Surrounding the sparring arena, state-of-the-art technology hums with quiet efficiency, seamlessly integrated into the environment to enhance the training experience. Advanced systems are capable of manipulating the atmosphere, simulating various climates and terrains to challenge and inspire those who tread upon its hallowed grounds. Whether it be the searing heat of a desert sun or the biting chill of an arctic wind, residents can immerse themselves in a diverse array of environmental conditions, pushing their limits and expanding their horizons with each passing moment.

In one corner of the training area, a series of exercise machines stand ready to assist in the development of muscle and endurance, their sleek designs accommodating beings of all shapes and sizes, including those of winged species. Adjustable resistance levels and customizable settings ensure that every workout is tailored to the unique needs and abilities of each individual, fostering growth and improvement with each repetition.

As residents push themselves to new heights within the confines of the training area, their efforts are rewarded by the mesmerizing sight of a massive waterfall cascading down one side of the chamber. The sheer force and majesty of the waterfall serve as a constant reminder of the untamed power of nature, inspiring awe and reverence in all who behold its splendor. Its waters cascade down the fall wall with a thunderous roar, filling the air with the soothing melody of rushing water and infusing the space with a sense of tranquility and renewal.

Storage Area

In the spacious confines of the storage area, a meticulously organized oasis awaits, designed to cater to every need and seasonality of life within the villa. From the frosty depths of winter to the sun-drenched days of summer, this versatile space serves as a hub of efficiency and convenience, ensuring that every item finds its rightful place within the villa's embrace.

As guests step into the storage area, they are greeted by rows of sturdy coat hooks lining the walls, ready to cradle winter coats and jackets in their protective embrace. Nearby, designated cubbies and racks stand at the ready, awaiting the arrival of skis, snowboards, and other winter sports equipment, their sleek designs ensuring easy access when the call of the slopes beckons.

But as the seasons shift and temperatures rise, the storage area undergoes a transformation of its own, seamlessly transitioning to accommodate the trappings of summer. Beach towels, floaties, and flotation devices find their place among the racks and shelves, their vibrant colors and playful designs hinting at the carefree days of relaxation and adventure that lie ahead.

Throughout the storage area, holiday decorations are carefully tucked away in designated bins and containers, their twinkling lights and festive accents patiently awaiting their moment to shine once more. From glittering ornaments to fragrant wreaths, each item is lovingly preserved, ready to infuse the villa with the spirit of the season when the time is right.

But beyond seasonal accoutrements, the storage area also serves as a repository for household essentials, with shelves and cabinets offering ample space for extra linens, towels, cleaning supplies, and bulk purchases of non-perishable items. Tools and equipment for maintenance and DIY projects are likewise housed within designated areas, ensuring that everything needed for upkeep and repair is close at hand.

Outdoor furniture finds refuge within the storage area during inclement weather or the off-season, with tables, chairs, umbrellas, and cushions safely stowed away until they are needed once more. Recreational items such as bicycles, kayaks, paddleboards, and camping gear are likewise stored within the space, their presence a testament to the villa's dedication to outdoor adventure and exploration.

Wardrobe storage is also accounted for within the storage area, providing additional space for seasonal clothing, shoes, and accessories that may not fit within the main wardrobe areas of the villa. Luggage and travel gear find their place alongside, with designated areas ensuring that suitcases and accessories remain organized and easily accessible for upcoming trips.

Finally, a utility room houses essential utilities such as the HVAC system, water heater, and electrical panels, with designated storage areas for spare parts and maintenance supplies ensuring that everything needed for upkeep and repair is close at hand. With every item meticulously organized and thoughtfully stored, the storage area stands as a testament to the villa's commitment to functionality, convenience, and the seamless integration of every aspect of life within its walls.

Security Features

Within the storage area, an array of security features stands as vigilant guardians, ensuring the safety and protection of the valuable items stored within the villa's confines. These measures, meticulously integrated into the space, provide peace of mind to residents and guests alike, knowing that their belongings are safeguarded against intrusions and threats.

Sturdy locks adorn the entrances to the storage area, their robust mechanisms standing as formidable barriers against unauthorized access. Crafted from high-quality materials and engineered with precision, these locks offer unparalleled security, deterring would-be intruders with their unyielding strength and uncompromising reliability.

Surveillance cameras discreetly monitor the space from strategic vantage points, their unblinking lenses capturing every movement and activity with unwavering precision. Linked to a centralized monitoring system, these cameras provide real-time footage of the storage area, allowing residents to keep a watchful eye on their belongings no matter where they may be within the villa.

Motion sensors stand sentinel throughout the storage area, their sensitive detectors attuned to even the slightest disturbance or anomaly. Triggered by unexpected movements or unauthorized entries, these sensors sound the alarm, alerting residents and security personnel to potential threats and activating additional security measures to deter intruders.

But beyond mere deterrence, these security features are designed to actively protect and safeguard valuable items stored within the villa. In the event of a breach or intrusion, advanced security protocols are activated, sealing off access to the storage area and alerting security personnel to the threat.

With these robust security measures in place, residents can rest assured that their belongings are protected against unauthorized access and theft, allowing them to enjoy peace of mind knowing that their treasures are safe and secure within the villa's embrace. Whether they are storing holiday decorations, household supplies, or recreational items, they can do so with confidence, knowing that the villa's security features are standing guard, ever vigilant and unwavering in their commitment to protection and safety.

Wine Cellar

In the dimly lit embrace of the wine cellar, a treasure trove of liquid gold awaits, each bottle a  testament to the artistry and craftsmanship of vintners from near and far. Racks upon racks line the cool stone walls, their sturdy frames groaning under the weight of countless vintages, their labels bearing witness to the rich tapestry of flavors and aromas contained within.

Local wines, lovingly crafted within the hallowed vineyards of the New Dusk Conclave, stand proudly alongside their foreign counterparts, their distinct personalities and regional nuances offering a tantalizing glimpse into the diversity of the wine world. From the robust reds of the foothills to the crisp whites of the coastal plains, each bottle embodies the essence of its terroir, a symphony of flavors waiting to be uncorked and savored.

As guests peruse the shelves, they are greeted by an array of labels, each telling its own unique story of heritage and tradition. Bottles adorned with intricate calligraphy and ornate designs whisper tales of distant lands and ancient vineyards, while others bear the simple elegance of minimalist aesthetics, their contents speaking volumes with every sip.

Among the local offerings, wines crafted from indigenous grape varieties reign supreme, their flavors reflective of the unique microclimates and soil compositions found within the New Dusk Conclave. Bold and expressive, they pay homage to centuries of winemaking tradition, their rich bouquets and complex palates a testament to the skill and dedication of the vintners who nurture them from vine to bottle.

But alongside these local treasures, foreign-made wines offer a glimpse into the wider world of viticulture, their exotic profiles and unfamiliar terroirs beckoning guests on a journey of discovery. From the sun-drenched vineyards of the Old World to the innovative wineries of the New, each bottle holds the promise of adventure and exploration, inviting guests to expand their horizons and embrace new experiences with every sip.

As guests select their chosen bottles with care and consideration, they do so knowing that each one holds the potential to elevate an ordinary moment into something extraordinary, transforming a simple meal or gathering into a celebration of life, love, and the boundless possibilities found within the confines of a single glass.

Cavern-Private Beach

The Cavern is a hidden gem nestled beneath the surface of a rocky wall, a secret paradise born from a serendipitous discovery. Initially stumbled upon by chance, its transformation into a private beach area is a testament to Nyx's ingenuity and a harmonious blend of natural wonder with man-made innovation.

The entrance to The Cavern is discreetly located within the basement level of a luxurious villa, accessible only to those privy to its existence. Large holes punctuate the rocky wall, serving as portals through which the gentle ebb and flow of seawater cascade into the cavern, creating a tranquil oasis within.

Crafted from a fusion of stalactites and stalagmites, the openings not only facilitate the influx of water but also lend an ethereal beauty to the space. During the day, natural light filters in through the cavern ceiling, diffused by a built-in screen that artfully mimics the shifting hues of the skies above, casting a dreamy ambiance over the scene below.

As night falls, The Cavern transforms into a mesmerizing spectacle illuminated by the soft glow of bioluminescent rocks scattered throughout its expanse. These luminescent gems cast a gentle radiance, imbuing the space with an otherworldly allure, perfect for stargazing or moonlit strolls along the sandy shore.

The private beach within The Cavern is adorned with comfortable beach chairs, inviting guests to recline and unwind amidst the tranquil sounds of lapping waves. Nearby, boxes filled with sandcastle-building equipment—plastic shovels, buckets, and molds—await the creative whims of visitors, encouraging playful exploration and imagination.

However, access to this secluded sanctuary is tightly controlled, guarded by invisible force fields that bar entry to those without proper authorization. This ensures that The Cavern remains a sanctuary of serenity, reserved exclusively for those fortunate enough to have earned the privilege of its discovery.
