Posting Requirements

Players are expected to post at least once every week to once every other week, if all players have posted under that timeframe the GM will do his best to get a new post in as soon as possible. Joint posts aren't mandatory for the main missions, but if the opportunity presents itself and all players affected can join, then they will happen.

Players who do not post within the time frame and who do not present a reason either on the OOC thread or by PM on the forums will be auto'ed in that post for the sake of moving the plot on. If the player is still inactive by the end of the mission the character will be moved to the Inactive Characters section of the wiki and be kept out from other missions until the player returns.
