

NH-31 History

This page contains the history of the Minkan.

The design process began towards the end of ye_31. Initially the intent was to create a simple system upgrade to the NH-22C Yamataian. As a result of several events; the goals and scope of the project expanded.

With the ongoing second_mishhuvurthyar_war there were several concerns to be addressed. The star_army_of_Yamatai had security concerns when it was discovered that the nmx was producing nekovalkyrja_type_29 as soldiers and infiltration personnel. That work took priority and the NH-31 project slowed down.

ketsurui_zuibatsu worked on this and consulted with Star Army Research Administration regarding security upgrades they were planning to implement within the NH-31 projects. The security upgrades were not originally intended for the NH-31. Then in ye_33 the terrorist group calling themselves the iwl declared war on the Empire.

ketsurui_zuibatsu scientists and engineers wanted to be sure that any citizen who chose to enlist would not be subject to another racially motivated order like the species_restriction_order. For this reason the NH-31 project became a new complete body type that featured an upgrade to a military version that would be compatible with any equipment used by the star_army_of_yamatai.

The model was given the name Minkan, which means folk. It was the the original concept of the upgrade. The design went into prototype status and upgrade protocols tested. It went into production in ye_33.
