

Yamashuto Computer Room

One of the most heavily guarded areas of the ship, the computer room holds the brains of the Yamashuto, including the ships MEGAMI. The room is rectangular and has multiple numbers of quantum storage computers for storing planetary information that has already been processed by the system and can be accessed by the ships colony bridge. The wall is lined with access panels and displays along with control terminals. Protected by an armored wall and blast doors.

Because of how important the computer room, only authorized personnel and technicians are allowed access.
