Background: The third and last planet of the Mishhuvurthyar's former holdings that can support modern life. It has four continents (only one really worth inhabiting), dark blue waters, and an unordinary amount of harvestable materials. The primary city on the planet was Kunnium; though not very large, it had an excellent spaceport but was destroyed by the Star Army of Yamatai in YE 30.

The system was taken by the SMDIoN in YE 35 during Rok'Veru Offensive. A Bulwark Starbase and four Rook platforms have been stationed there as a token Naval presence. The naval picket in the system consists of four destroyers. Their primary role is to serve as messengers to alert the fleets if the NMX make a move.

Seven moons circle the planet; none supports life, but two have rich deposits of rare and noble gases.

The primary planet and system were renamed Lacusan after a referendum was held by the citizens of Nepleslia.
