Caelisolans range from 5' to 7' in height, with males averaging 6'1" and females averaging 5'6". Caelisolans generally weigh from 80 to 135 pounds, with males marginally heavier than females. Build and Skin Color All Elysians will be built on a lighter frame than you would see for someone of similar stature, but they all (including Plebians) have much more power in their frames then it would appear. Plebians, despite appearing like malnourished children in many cases, still fall only a small amount shy of the average human, while a patrician is markedly much stronger then even well trained humans, even on the lower ends of their spectrum.

Distinguishing Features Elysian distinguishing features vary wildly. Especially among Patricians, Caelisolans, and well-respected Plebeians, personal creativity and expression is encouraged, and this sometimes takes the form of body modification, tattoos, dying one's hair or (rarely) wings, and piercing. Body modification is usually quite tasteful, with clashing or offensive colors almost always right out, and everything done with the intent of being aesthetically pleasing. Black Hair, White Wings, Violet Eyes. Pale White Skin.

Personality

- WIP
- Caelisolans, being former Plebeians, tend to be somewhat subdued and submissive towards Patricians. However, as they currently represent the best, boldest, and most accomplished of Plebeians, these traits are often less prominent. Caelisolans are far more likely to harbor grand ambitions than Plebeians, though they still realize that their place is below the elite Patricians.

Virtually all Elysians are fiercely religious, believing in a single ethnocentric god. While all species are worthy of salvation,

History

Aurakiel was born 24日 1月 25 in Empyrean on the planet Elysia Novus.

- WIP - Plebian until age 6, upgraded to Caelisolans body in YE 31.
- WIP - Caelisolans sometimes know a good deal about their family history, but usually don't learn anything beyond their immediate family unit. As until recently, Caelisolans were often caught in a very hopeless situation before switching to their new bodies, such luxuries as tracing one's family back for fifteen generations rarely existed. In the past, Plebeians rarely had money, typically living in abject poverty and often without sufficient food. Though poverty is still far from uncommon among Caelisolans today, starvation was all but erased a few years past thanks to the introduction of Psomi.
- Upon joining the Star Army of Yamatai, Aurakiel attended Basic Training. After two months, he graduated from basic training and moved into his SAoY Mechanic occupation training which would last an additional four and a half months.
- Upon completion of his occupational training, Aurakiel received orders for his first posting aboard the YSS Koun.

Social Connections

In decreasing order of subjective importance, Aurakiel is currently connected to:

- Heavenly Father (see Elysian Religion)
- Priest of the local Temple where Aurakiel grew-up and currently his primary connection to the Elysian Church?
- Patrician Sponsor
- Immediate Family:
  - Father is Samizel, a Plebeian who was born in YE 08 and transferred to a Caelisolan body in YE 31. A 'miracle baby' born prematurely, only days before the tragedy of the Great Plague of YE 08 would occur. Eyes didn't open soon enough, so has only ever seen parents in recorded media - namely wedding photos. Grew up, like most of his generation, an orphan. Joined the Elysian Celestial Navy and served in the Kalikolo Fleet. At time of leaving the military in YE 34, was a Duplicari, commanding officer of a Planetary Defence Satellite. As a civilian, largely turned to domestic duties and supporting wife's efforts to provide an income.
  - Mother is Gabrian, a Plebeian who was born in YE 06 and transferred to a Caelisolan body in YE 31. Miraculously, neither parent was struck down by the Great Plague of Ye 08. This was attributed to living in a remote, spiritual retreat where they lived as ascetically as possible. The small family moved to Empyrean where Gabrian's parents took up service duties at the Great Temple. Gabrian grew up heavily influenced by the Elysian Church, but always wanted more than the simple life her parents preferred. Gained an interest in engineering and eventually got a job working on a maintenance crew at the primary shipyard of the Elysian Celestial Navy on Elysia Novus. Met Samizel there, nature took its course. Although four children would be born between YE 25 and YE 30, only Aurakiel would survive his early years. After becoming Caelisolan, Gabrian took advantage and began studying again. Following the birth of Karaphon, Gabrian would go on to find part-time work as a mechanic. After Samizel retired from the military and took over running the household, Gabrian opened her own small machine shop.

- Sister is Karaphon, a natural Caelisolan born in YE 36. Karaphon is a spoiled princess by just about any definition, having grown up in the post-scarcity conditions following the family elevation to Caelisolans in YE 31.

Aurakiel is potentially connected to:

- Elysians he may have met/known growing up in Empyrean.
- Members of his Basic Training class (approx. date begin - date end)
- Members of his SAoY Technician Occupational Training class (approx date begin - date end)
