Facial Features and Eye color: Ruby's face is that of a young woman, who often tends to carry an expression of conservative confidence, which can easily be confused for a rogue-like grin. Ruby's eyes have been cosmetically altered to a lovely full red with black flecking.

Hair color and Style: Ruby often keeps her shoulder-blade length deep-red dyed hair in a loose pony tail, a style adopted since her promotion to Ensign rank which granted her the privilege of such a length.

History

Pre-RP

Ruby has lived a modest life so far in regard to her warrior training. From adolescence and onward, Ruby has proven herself as a competent Fyunnen warrior, yet she has not displayed any immensely desirable traits, due to her lack of distinction, Ruby has been kept from any high-up role in Fyunnen or LSDF command. However, her lack of an extensive combat or performance record has been compensated for by her aptitude for situational control and talent for modern combat techniques which have managed to earn her a position as an Ensign in the LSDF, and a small-scale command role which has been given to her to test her capability as a commander.

Service Record

Nyli II Military Base

Ruby has been placed in command of a squad-level command position.

Skills

Fighting

Ruby like any Lorath Fyunnan has developed herself to be able to utilize Lorath martial arts capabilities and has proven herself as proficient in self defense and offensive tactics in close quarters combat.

Physical

Despite Ruby's compact muscular body, she has refined her compact muscles to deliver a sustained and effective performance in and out of combat situations. Ruby has also undergone physical training to promote her endurance and stamina in high gravity environments and high stress situations.

Domestics

Like all Fyunnan, Ruby has undergone training to refine her capabilities in a domestic setting as well as a combat setting. Ruby has been trained to maintain her living space and personal appearance to deliver an optimal appearance of organization and cleanliness.

Leadership

Ruby has undergone extensive formal training in regard to leadership techniques in regard to commanding Lorath individuals. Along with Ruby's formal training, Ruby has also taken the opportunity to study the technical aspects of command on her own, and apply her knowledge in a command setting on a squad and platoon level on routine deployment.

Survival & Military

As with all Fyunnan, Ruby has undergone training which has granted her an extensive knowledge of survival techniques in terrestrial environments. Along with Ruby's training in terrestrial survival, she has also elected to expand her knowledge into the realm of space survival techniques. Along with Ruby's survival knowledge, she has also studied conventional terrestrial combat deployment strategy. However,

Ruby's talent primarily is exhibited during space deployments where she displays a natural talent for combat operations in space environments.

Vehicles

Ruby has been professionally and privately involved in vehicle operation. Ruby's experience ranges from privately owned transportation machines, to LSDF operated combat machines which she has taken a deep liking to. Ruby is also able to quickly learn how to operate Lorath machines through the utilization of piloting manuals to allow for a basic operational understanding.

Technology Operation

Ruby's expertise primarily are centralized around the operation of Lorath equipment, however, Ruby's general interest in technology has helped her to learn how to operate the Yamatai Empire's Kessaku OS system, along with other common place technology. Ruby's enthusiasm also grants her the patience and insight to study the operation of new technology and learn to operate new equipment moderately quick.
