Achilles Slither
Species & Gender	Separa'Shan Male
Organization:	Mining Guild
Occupation:	Overseer

Character Description

Achilles as a Separa'shan stood on average about 6 foot tall, with the total length which included his tail was about 15 feet in length. In terms of weight, he was measured to weigh about 170lbs (77kg).

As a typical male, he had short hair, that was purposefully kept neat so that it didn't get caught on anything and was a brown color, while his hair was yellow with a black slit, his jaw, and face, excluding eyes, is human-like with a standard jaw, he was a Pythus thus he looked human at least from the top half. His nose was an artificial nose. His ears were pointed almost like those of elves and his mouth had the more prominent fangs

Black scales covered his body, from his waist to the tip of his tail, with solid pattern markings on his tail half of his body. He was skinny with some scars on his body.

History

At the beginning Achilles had a typical life, hatching from his egg, hunting for food with his siblings, and then as an adult, he met and married his mate Demeter, and they had three children, Calliope the eldest, Domitia and Zeus. His family life was a happy one, as he watched his children hatched from eggs, and begin growing, but then Kuvexians came and caused havoc. They killed his wife, and in retribution, he killed the one who had done the deed.

Achilles wanted to join the rebels, but he had three reasons why he shouldn't do so, after all, Calliope was only 4, Domitia was 2 and his son was barely a year old. So he gathered his children and was able to find a way off-world, thanks in part to the help of the New Dusk Conclave, and the four found themselves on Sirris VI Achilles found himself in need of a job, and was able to secure one at the newly formed Mining Guild, where he was able to show off his leadership skills and rose in ranks to become Overseer.

He chose the nearest Mine to the city so that he could be close enough to travel to meet up with his children after Daycare ended.
