History

Ven Volontany is a clone of Sacre Ven Sanssinia. She was born in YE 15. She always knew that her destiny lay in the stars. However, when she first ventured off of Essia System, she was captured by pirates and sold into Slavery in Democratic Imperium of Nepleslia. Her time as a slave was not gentle. Initially sold as a sex slave, she was often insubordinate. This lead to her frequently being whipped and developing a horrific network of scars. In time, she was sold a extremely cruel pirate captain who broke her completely. He was a true sadist, often inflicting grievous injuries on her just to watch her in pain. It was here that she learned how to patch herself up so that she could survive. He brought her along with him on his cruises and let the crew have their way with her.

On one of the cruises, he was killed but he had a backup. Upon learning that his previous toy, Sacre Ven Sanssinia, had joined the millitary he woke up a clone and began to turn the broken Separa'Shan into a bloody killing machine for his service and to kill the escapee. He succeeded, perhaps too well. He installed a slave implant on her to keep her from turning against him while using her as an assassin.. While this was effective for a while, she eventually found a way to get the implant removed.

This lead to her cutting a bloody swath through her former master's headquarters and killing him. While the death did not stick, it did set him back significantly. She was forced to flee the planet before getting at her former master's backups. She is currently gathering her strength to strike back and finally destroy her master once and for all.

She briefly connected with Lazurus, but the partnership ultimately didn't work. She briefly signed up with some less then legal ships, but this was interrupted by Sacre's discovery of her location. The two of them fought a running battle across half of the station. Ven snuck into a warehouse where she was discovered by the crew of the ISS Brimstone.
