He is well-muscled, like most Daur due to their heavy gravity on their planet. Yet due to his service time in the army are some scars on his body to be found. Yet for him, they are reminders of what had happened to not forget his fallen comrades.

In regards to his fur color, he is very common among his people being orange that matches his red-colored eyes. His tail is no difference to the rest of his fur and is also registered as orange. His red short hair is the only thing that makes a rarity for him among his people. He is teased with his red hair and eyes of being the Red Stargazer.

Personality

He is known to be a kind-hearted man that has given his service to the Kingdom. Vivaldo is known in the day to day living as a helpful and supportive man that always looks out for everyone close to him. Though his mentality is not something that came out of the blue, he learned this from his years of service within the military where you protect the backs of your comrades. Vivaldo was at a younger age a child that wanted to explore the stars and expand his need and lust for knowledge, but currently, his ambitions are more taking care of his family and work in the fields. In the navy, he was known to be strict, loyal, and calm in any combat situation.

History

Vivaldo La Rostislavovna was born in ER735.

Born on Nesha Prime \(Planet\) and taken care of by a lovely family, Vivaldo was raised to be an open-minded child that was always searching for something new, something exciting, and something he always wanted to learn from. His father was part of the military, while proud of his son he wanted him to learn the basics of survival and self-defense. With that being said, he joined Youth Corps at the proper age and started to learn the ethical and military ways of the Kingdom. When he graduated Vivaldo proudly joined the Shukara Volunteer Navy and became a Neshaten Marine

In ER747 he was part of the deployment unit at what went down in the history books as the New Harvest Massacre to secure the location. Vivaldo was traumatized by what he saw, but what he witness and volunteering wanted to be part of the task force to bring the Netrunu'marol down. This was largely part of his military career, he fought only terrorist cell after cell and never came close to finally shutting it down. He rose however in ranks among his fellow marines and after a dedicated and duty-fulfilling career as a Marine, he switched in ER775 to be part of the more combat ships that were being produced by the kingdom.

First is the high ranking marine onboard the ship, only to be promoted towards Lexicon and eventually for a brief moment towards the position of Shipmaster. But after coming in close combat yet again with the Netrunu'marol, he retired from his military duty to focus on his family. Aida and Delfino were already born and a third was on its way. Vivaldo received an honorable discharge from his duties and became a Gae'huye together with his wife on New Jui'varen. For years everything was going well, he proudly saw his children grow and even a fourth one joined the family.

Yet when Aida got to her adult life, he had to hear her request to explore the stars. At first, he refused and had long debates with his oldest daughter. But eventually, he broke and agreed to her leaving towards the stars. It was something that he could not have done at a younger age. Time passes and he saw frustration growing in his son about the sudden leaving of Aida, but could not ease that pain when Dalida also choose to leave the Kingdom. He kept himself strong for his family, his wife, and children, but Vivaldo would lie if he would not admit that he felt broken. Then the Shukara Naval Command stood at his doorstep, requesting him to come back to active duty due the tension within the kingdom. He had no other choice to accept his path and become a shipmaster once again.
