History

Family (or Creators)

Chika is a test-type created by Pnu-gen for a program that was quickly cancelled. She views her squad as her family.

Pre-RP

Chika is a test-type, and was made for a program testing ways to increase Nekovalkyrja strength, durability, and stamina without significantly changing their biology. While the program achieved this, the body type was found to be slower and less agile, and ended up being dropped in favor of a more conservative redesign in the form of the NH-33.

Released from the test program, Chika chose normal service, and was assigned to the fifth fleet as an infantrywoman.

Skills

Chika is skilled in the use and operation of Powered armor, and all the weapons that go with it. she is versed in all the standard skills a nekovalkyrja needs to have. Physically very strong, Chika's lack of speed and agility makes her tend to support her squadmates rather than act as a frontline attacker. She specializes in the use of heavy weaponry, even though very few types are available.
