Physical Description

Dokusei Kaori is a rather short but well-formed Type 33 Nekovalkyrja , standing at the low end of 4' 9". Kaori is rather fit in build, with her hips being equal with her shoulders. Her hair is a deep purple in color, and forms a bulbous "bowl" around her head that drops past her eyes when not held back. Despite its overgrown style, her hair is well kept and clean. Her skin is a light gray in complexion, with a lightly rounded face. Her rounded nose pokes out from just below her hairline. Her ears are catlike, covered in the same purple hair all the way to their pointed tips. When not covered by hair or helmet, Kaori's eyes are a radiant, almost luminescent yellow.

Kaori speaks most of the time with a rather soft tone, which can become distinctly hoarse when agitated. She almost always carries an odd aroma of sweetness around her, reminiscent of aged nectar.

Personality

To a stranger, Kaori is a rather quiet Nekovalkyrja, preferring to speak up only when she needs to. She is rather intelligent when it comes to matters of chemistry, biology, botany, and other scientific fields, but her lack of experience can leave her rather naive or overconfident. She prefers to keep herself and her surroundings to a modest degree of order, critiquing those who she finds too messy (though only sometimes verbally). She views herself as merely doing the job she was created to do.

Under her outwardly quiet and soft appearance, Kaori's view on science and combat take a morals dive quickly. As a soldier, she derives pleasure in killing the enemy, but sometimes to a level some could consider cruel. She views the world in a lightly cynical and pre-ordered way, and her view of science is no different. Despite her questionably low ethical fiber, her loyalty and duty is still entirely sworn to Yamatai. While quiet with strangers, Kaori tends to open up more to those she spends time with. To a friend, she can be quite pleasant.

Likes: Plants, chemistry, orderly work, schadenfreude, painting.

Dislikes: Waste, oceans, Nepleslian guns, tanning booths.

History

Dokusei Kaori was “born” in late YE 39. She was given her three year contract, programmed, and sent off for socialization and training. From early on in her new life, Kaori viewed her existence in an almost robotic and cynical nature. She quickly realized the extents and circumstances of her mind and body, and chose to embrace it. This, as well as being mixed in the large amount of Nekovalkyja being pushed out to combat Kuvexian forces, pushed Kaori to form a somewhat secluded personality, taking more interest in her own scientific studies than getting to know everyone around. During socialization, she had picked up the nickname “Shroom” from comrades. After a few months of training and testing, Kaori proved to be a functioning and loyal soldier, minus routine cases of hair length violations that lead to her receiving a navy blue hair band. After training was complete, Kaori was put on hold at Fort Minori Reserve Center, before being assigned to the YSS Kaiyō II.

Her first mission in the field involved the investigation of anomalous EMP signatures emanating from a rock dubbed "Planet H". The mission was turned on its head after the planet shed its overgrown exterior to reveal a dangerous kinetic payload underneath. After the mission she departed the YSS Kaiyō II to hone her skills at the Star Army Research Administration and higher education in biochemistry.

Over the next four years she dedicated her energies to pursuing the betterment of her abilities with the military sciences. She was a stellar part of the Star Army Research Administration - Research Division team, devoting her time to projects involving ST Data and Psionics. A particular focus of hers during her work with ST Data was ST Data Fragmentation and its implications. In YE 44 she completed her biochemistry degree at the top of her graduating class and immediately began pursuing a second degree. Dokusei's second degree is a major in medical sciences with a minor in botany. Some of her professor's have expressed light concern in the past with her display of schadenfreude and sadism, though no serious implications requiring action have been brought up due to her devoted attitude towards learning. It is currently being chalked up to her delightfully dark humor.

In YE 45.8 she went into the Star Army Reserve to take a break from her intensive work and focus on her dual degree. Rather quickly she decided that this was a terrible move and in YE 46.2 she submitted a request to be brought back to active duty. The request was swiftly granted and she received orders to go back to active duty at the rank of Shoi Kohosei. Her place of duty, none other than her beloved Star Army Research Administration.

Skills Learned

Kaori is trained in the Star Army Common Skills.

Sciences

Kaori has received additional training and knowledge in several areas of science, including chemistry, biology, geology, and botany. In addition, she has received training on the operation of scientific equipment, scanners, and vehicles. She believes a dedication to military science is the greatest stride a Nekovalkyrja can take with their life.

Medical

Part of her scientific and commons training includes medical treatment of cuts, burns, broken limbs, and more. It is however questionable if you want Kaori to be your doctor.

Combat

Kaori approaches combat with an air of efficiency and borderline sadism. Under normal circumstances she can be an efficient shot. However when encountering an unseen threat, she has been known to use gas grenades before puncturing enemy helmets and letting them choke to preserve subject bodies. In addition to this, she is trained in hand to hand combat, as well as basic demolition.

Arts

Surprisingly, Kaori enjoys painting landscapes. Given her photographic memory, she can be uncannily precise.

Social Connections

Dokusei Kaori is connected to:

- She hasn't made too many friends yet.
- Taiyou Hoshi - Former Captain.
