Physical Description

Setsuya is 6'2, has jet black hair that hangs to the lower back with a long bang on either side of her face, has golden eyes, and pale skin. As with being a nekovalkryja, she has black cat ears, and medium length, black floofy feline tail. One of the few things other than occasional makeup, Setsuya always has the end of her two long bangs highlighted in either gold, silver, or red. Her face is very soft in its features, curved and beautifully rounded. She has a hourglass shaped figure, and a D bust.

Personality

Setsuya can sometimes seem cold and calculative if caught without the expectation of someone else being around. Otherwise, she has a joyful mask of a smile, and a peppy attitude. She's usually very focused on whatever the current task at hand is, so much so to the point of being oblivious to what is happening that might pose a distraction. She does not normally follow fashion trends and other such things as women do, but does a little out of curiosity. One thing of note, is that she can tend over zealous in combat if in close to medium range combat, but tends to be cold as ice the further away she is. Some have considered her socially awkward in the past, though she cares little for negative opinions.

History

Having been born as the daughter of Itatski Ichika in early YE 38, Setsuya was initially an NH-33 and matured after 3 months. After enlistment to the Star Army of Yamatai, she transferred to a NH-33A body. Setsuya went through training at Fort Hajime. She so far had seen zero combat, but has made sure she's well prepared for when she did. Training herself heavily in marksmanship, and athletics. She soon joined the crew of the YSS Eucharis, and was deployed as an armor pilot during the KMS invasion, and again during reclamation. Afterwards, the ship was sent to investigate a dark station, and was involved in the cleansing operation of eliminating discovered bioweapons.

She received several commendations and two promotion some time after and was transferred to another active posting for the next six months, following the Eucharis's decommissioning. During a brief leave, she was involved in a first contact situation that saw further recommendation from a respected Yamataian diplomat by the name of Ranga Havard. She received a field promotion and was temporarily moved to the diplomat's escort. After a brief posting to the station in orbit of Terra Multa, the YSS Shiroyama, she is now being transferred to the YSS Artemis after several active postings in between.
