Physical Description

Oliver is a Minkan male that stands about six feet tall. He has hazel-colored eyes and jet-black hair with handsome facial features. He weighs in at about 190 lbs. For facial hair he keeps a a bit of scruff, never letting it get longer unless it's for a pre-planned special occasion where he will style it into a specific look. He is of average build, not immensely bulky but not “lean”. He has a somewhat deep voice, but can be described as boyish as it gets higher when he becomes excited. He generally smells of generic soap when relaxing or performing day-to-day activities, but will most likely smell of sweat after combat or training/exercising.

Personality

Oliver is generally a pleasant person to be around. He is very passionate about certain topics, and may become heated in an argument. Due to his upbringing, however, he has a fair amount of patience, also learning how to increase his capacity to control his temper through his medical training. He usually cracks bad (cringey) jokes and just likes to have fun. He always looks for the best in any situation, the light in the dark. He can be bold sometimes, but knows his place in situations that involve life and death: oftentimes at the back. He can almost always be seen with a smile on his face and will meditate in his bunk (or other quiet place) to clear his mind, a skill learned as he ship-hopped.

History

Oliver was born on a cargo ship in YE 17, constantly on the move. Instead of school he learned from the traders, mercenaries, and others that traveled (sometimes stowed away) on cargo, passenger, or even military vessels. He is unofficially known as a "Ship-Hopper", someone without a home. He lost his parents in a decompression incident on a cargo ship as a rogue asteroid struck the hull. He was taken in by the ship's captain, then continued his "hopping" until he reached Yamatai. Once there he decided to join the Star Army and actually did something with his life rather than odd jobs on freighters or luxury yachts.

After losing his parents, Oliver often had to tend to his own wounds, using "street" methods until he got his hands on a... borrowed... shipment of supplies. There he learned by reading and learning through hands-on experience. By the time he joined Star Army he was fairly knowledgeable in medicine, hoping to learn more in his training to do some good in the universe.

Skills Learned

1. Biology (Includes genetics, xenobiology, zoology, etc.): After picking up a biology book, he became fascinated with anatomy and genetics. At cargo ports he would use terminals to look up information on biology and xenobiology, understanding more and more as he aged and did his own schooling.
2. Fighting (Martial arts, power armor, hand-to-hand combat, weapons): During a pirate raid he once had to take on a Pirate attempting to take their fuel and food, leaving them drifting and starving. He began to fight the Pirate hand-to-hand, and lost, of course. He was saved by a private security guard hired by the captain who had taken down his own Pirate and shot Oliver's, who was about to stab him. Since that incident he promised to himself to be stronger, quicker, and wiser than his enemies. He trained with the security guards hired to protect the captain's freighter, and then in his training with the Star Army.
3. Medical and Science (Surgery, pathology, medicine, cybernetics installation): On top of learning through experience and books, he learned many new techniques under the guidance of the Star Army.
4. Physical (acrobatics, running, etc.): Starships require a surprising amount of fitness to maintain, along with the stress and constant movement of being a medic. He is fit and is able to perform all necessary physical activities needed of him.
5. Rogue (Pick-pocketing, pick locks, sleight of hand, "streetwise," seduction): Living by yourself before a wise freighter captain takes you in requires some... ingenuity. He can pick most conventional locks, but has a tougher time with electromagnetic and electronic locks.

6. All necessary Star Army techniques, skills, and other: Thanks to his training, Oliver is proficient in all necessary skills taught by the Star Army, such as communication, combat, etc.
