Physical Description

As a newly created Nekoalkyrja, Ragnhildr lies closely within the standard range of Type 33A physiques. At 5'10" she stands a little taller than most of her sisters, though she's still built similarly. Slender in the waist, with a moderately larger bust, she still has a distinct hourglass shape. Her skin is the basic Type 33A olive drab/camo green. She has a rounded face, with blue eyes and a small button nose and regular Neko type ears without fur. Her hair is black and cut to a short fringe about at her cheekbones.

Personality

Ragnhildr is essentially still raw clay waiting to be molded. One of millions of Nekovalkyrja turned out to serve in the expanding Rikugun, the rigorous 'finishing school' of training didn't exactly give her much of a chance to develop many unique traits. That being said, her tenacity was frequently noted during exercises. It typically took several repeated orders to convince Ragnhildr to fall back or abandon an advance, either one. The same traits carried over into her field training with the 71/1050th Legion, though still prone to switching between an almost manically energetic curiosity and a detached calm.

History

Ragnhildr was born in the cloning facilities of Natria during June of YE 37. Upon completion of her training and instruction she was initially assigned to the Star Army Rikugun 71/1050th Legion. She earned top marks for her performance in close quarters shooting and tactical maneuvering with power armor. After several months she was scheduled for reassignment as a replacement for the fleet.
