Physical Description

Rohan prefers a simple, effective body type to anything beautiful or flashy.

Medium dark skin of a shadowy grey, with dark hair and eyes, small nose and a wide set mouth, sturdy jawline, and the smallest breasts and hips the body builder would allow.

Through baseline and intensive training, this particular specimen has bulked up significantly, and when asked, expressed a desire to use a male body, which was shortly approved.

As of this time, one would see a medium build Minkan male, approximately five foot and five inches tall and weighing in at around 200 lb. Skin color is a light, mottled brown, darkening across the backs of the shoulders and striping across the forearms, making his form difficult to make out in low-light conditions without infra-red or other night vision. He does not have a tail, though is quite skilled with Yamataian gravity manipulation abilities.

Hair is black, kept very short, with dark brown eyes. Squared jawline and low cheekbones give an imposing glare, but are visibly built more for structural integrity than beauty.

Personality

Being a mere year and a half old, Rohan has not actually had much time to develop his own personality, so can be seen as cold and calculating.

He is unusually professional and by the book, compared to his contemporaries, even to finding them distasteful or annoying. He is, however, very intelligent, and can adapt quickly to changes in the rules, even if he continues operating by a ruleset and not necessarily using his own intelligence or any creativity to complete tasks.

He does, however, enjoy a challenge.

At multiple points in his career, superiors have noted his initiative, in both positive and negative lights. He tends to not wait for instructions to do things up to and including rappelling out of aircraft over his operational zone.

"I turn around to get you a harness. One second! And I turn around and you are gone!" – Squad leader scolding him about a rescue performed planetside

History

Born and trained for an officer's post in Search and Rescue division of the Yamatai Emergency Services, Rohan quickly found himself desiring more. Something more meaningful or more challenging. In stead of acting out like other bored troops, Rohan trained, downloaded, and applied as many technical manuals as he could find in his field and made Ensign within eight months. Only known disciplinary issues were attempts to remove Nekoalkyrja body features, including "accidental" removal of his tail. Later asked about these incidents, and gender and species identity issues were presented. Recommended for immediate transfer into a male Geshrin or Minkan body.

Selected for lateral transfer into the Rikugun as a search and rescue operative for civilian disasters or civilian search and rescue six months ago, keeping his technical occupation placement for legal purposes.

Two months ago, he submitted his packet for the Star Army Exchange Program, and has been denied, pending selection for Kyūen school as an instructor.
