History

Syhani latiri was born on Ayenee in YE 22 to Aebai and Tyje. Her birth occured between the Space Race and the Colonization of Ayenee and the Umarian Wars. Her mother Tyje left after recovering from birth and would be gone for most of her childhood due to active service with the Continuum Star Navy as a first officer. Though her mother would be gone for most of this early stage in her life her father, Aebai, would dote upon her and her siblings enough to last many life times. While she was still a babe she found a curiosity with tending to various broken items around the house. Granted at this stage whe was more likely to try and patch it with toys or imagination, nonetheless the interest would develop at a rapid pace.

At the end of YE 30 her mother Tyje returned home to find Syhani investigating a malfunction with several doors within the abode. This led to a sit down with both her mother and father about how this interest could best be fostered in a advantageous manner. As a result of the discussion Aebai would get her into various age appropriate activities to aid in this endeavor. When the Void Wars began her mother was once more called to action in service to the Norian Continuum. This time around her mother's absence hit a little harder, causing her to hyper focus on schooling and passion projects.

In YE 40 the ysi would receive news that Tyje died in conflict. At the time they did not realize it was due to misconceptions regarding the entities they were up against. Aebai assumed a more prominent role as provider in the home, becoming more proactive in his work and involving his youngest daughter whenever he could. She pursued higher education as a technician with a specialization for damage control. Due to the chaos surrounding them at the time she got a very hands on approach to the field.

Eventually what was left of the ysi would join other survivors from the capital worlds on the colony ships led by Tetsuya Eitan \(Airwin Caeyara\), who at the time was known as Emperor Airwin Caeyara.

During the time period that would come to be known as New Noria and Another Fall she would put her knowledge to use in colonization efforts for New Noria. Though this attempt was short lived as the Craethel followed them yet again. Aebai died during the violent attack along with several of her siblings leaving her almost completely on her own. She followed the survivors of this latest attempt to the Kagami Galaxy as part of the Emperor's dream of the Visions of Tsenlan.

While Operation Fireplace was ongoing she played an integral part in the damage control efforts that occurred in Arrival of the Norians. Her efforts aided those that joined in emergency response, yielding valuable information that saved many lives. Though she does have a strong distaste for the entity known as Bathosar as a result. Even going as far as to throw darts at a poster of the beast. When things settled down she took time to adjust to Yamataian culture and figure a path forward for herself. Luckily her older brother Aevi was there to support her, encouraging her to pursue her passions, wherever they may take her.

At the beginning of YE 45.6 she enlisted in the Star Army of Yamatai as a Star Army Technician. After her training completed in YE 45.8 she awaited assignment to her first command in the Star Army of Yamatai.
