History

Family (or Creators)

Taharial family is the Chasan family which have all been soldiers, she has gone against what her family does by being a medic.

father: Kathiral Chasan (Deceased)

mother: Amanuel Chasan

has no brothers or sisters

Pre-RP

Taharial had a hard childhood, she was born and lived in the poorer part of Empryrean. Her family weren't there for most of the time she lived at a home because her family was on duty, they only earned enough to live though not to get anything special. She was an only child and never really fitted in with others her own age, when she became of age she joined the Star Army of Yamatai, and went to the Star Army academy which annoyed her family because her family has always sided with Elysian in the wars, they hate Yamatai even though they are at peace with them, Kathial and Amanuel's daughter joining the star army of Yamatai was a massive insult to there ancensters. She believes in the 'Great Creator' like the rest of her race but doesn't really take an interest in politics saying its all the same bull, she says she doesn't care who runs the race as long as she isn't near when it goes wrong.

At the academy it was hard for her at first then it became easier as time wore on, she loves the Yamatai culture and social structure more than the Elysain culture and social structure but would never tell anyone that she thinks that. Her first couple of medical exam went so wrong she was earned the nickname "the butcher" even after she became a good medic with good skill the nickname stayed and makes it harder for her to get a job as a medic.

RP

[Mission 22] Echoes of the Past

Taharial joined the Eucharis as her first placement, she wasn't even settled when she was told she needed to head to the away team there she helped Akiashiro Aikiko as the area disrupted the power armour, after sorting out the solider she went into the caves with the others, as they explored they started to be attacked by unknown crystal being some of the crew suffering wounds. As the crew retreated Taharial has asked if one could get a part of a creature so she could study it, she was allowed and they made there final escape from the caves but things got weird from there as the tunnel system they investigated shifted and became a weapon targeted at the Eucharis.

Taharial had 'ordered' the wounded team members to her location and called for a (7-Line) Request For Medical Assistance hoping that Tsuguka Toyoe didn't lose too much blood. It took couple of minutes for the shuttle to reach Tsuguka Toyoe then collected Taharial, who spent all the time on the shuttle trying to get Tsuguka Toyoe's heart beating stronger, as the two on the shuttle had stopped the bleeding for her.

While on the ship again she was tending to Tsuguka Toyoe and put the part of the crystal creature in storage, that was until a crushed Dirjon Ulvson came into the Med Lab and her focus was on him until he became stable. Taharial talked with Tsuguka Toyoe and when they awoke Dirjon Ulvson as well. She asked Hanako if she could experiment on the Nightmare Type in the Eucharis and was allowed.

[Mission 22.2] Echoes of the Past - Part 2

The next day the team had changed to one of the other planets in the system and Taharial was sent on the away team and was working with Tsuguka Toyoe going into an unknown derelict ship, they communicated with the Rixxikor who wanted a ride off the planet. When they entered derelict ship they were thankful for the helmets as the air was thick with foul odors, Taharial left Tsuguka Toyoe to go and stop the others from what she found out later was blowing up the ship and got yelled at by Hanako that she was needed in the ship to help Samael Darkfire who had been attacked by the Rixxikor.

After this she went around searching around the Med Lab wondering what there was here, when Samael Darkfire she tried to joke with the new person but he didn't seem to understand it and start to frustrate her slightly. Suddenly the ship jolted and after a few minutes one of the crew clad in power armour came running in with a unconscious Bjarnison Sigurd who had flew into nearly non existent atmosphere and needed to be help quickly, after this Taharial just sat around writing notes for what she called the 'Nightmare Neko'.

[Out of RP]

Taharial had left the Eucharis for a few months as she returned home to see her dad on his last week of life, with this happening she didn't return to the Eucharis until she felt calmer and was ready to work, she was accepted back to the family and her father's last day of life and her mother was so happy that they could of been a proper family again, even is was for one day but now she had her daughter back and even happier.

[Mission 24]

Taharial stayed out of everyone's way, when she returned until she was needed to enter a Rixxikor ship but even then she was rushed around and just kept a look on everyone's vitals to make sure that they were alive, when she had returned to the ship she had preformed a autopsy on one of the insects with help from Wazu.
