History

Pre-RP

Born as a Geshrin in YE 02, the unlucky soul that is Xavier Armstrong is the son of a pair of PNUgen Corporation geneticists. As a result, his parent's work had cemented in him a sense of superiority over all other humans that were not bio-engineered. He immediately upgraded to the NH-22C Yamataian when given the chance and enlisted into the Star Army of Yamatai as a Star Army Science Officer.

In YE 34 he was kidnapped by the NMX (reported simply as disappearing) when in route to give a lecture on Hanako's World. Having a Parasite-Type Mishhuvurthyar inserted into him to turn him into a spy within the Star Army, the war ended. No longer of any use, the individual that would become Masamune Armstrong after the merger of his personality with the parasite would be abandoned. He ended up being taken by a group of NMX remnants while fleeing from Yamatai.

Xavier have another chance at life. Finally declared dead in YE 42, his sister followed his will and revived him from his last known ST backup. Losing 8 years of his life, he opted to take a new job as a chief scientist in a Ryu Keiretsu biotech division (eventually merged with Advancer Enterprises).

When Advancer Enterprises was looking to develop a clone workforce, Xavier ended up following in the footsteps of his parents. Organizing a team of scientists, he consulted with the Athena Foundation of Nepleslian Research and Manufacturing due to the Reds' expertise with cloning. The end result was the Lily Type Artificial Nepleslian.

Skills Learned

Biology

Xavier is educated in the anatomy and biological processes of Humans, Nekovalkyrja, and Mishhuvurthyar. He can easily dissect a corpse and understands, more or less, what functions each organ in the body performs. Skilled in surgery, Xavier can manipulate the genetics or molecular structure of a subject to achieve most effects (and more) achievable by surgical means.

Because he understands how a body, and more importantly nerve tissue, reacts to certain chemicals; Xavier can manipulate the body and mind of a subject by administering chemical or nanomachine doses. He works with biological materials and is familiar with the tolerances and operational limits of most organic tissues as a design material.

Chemistry

Xavier understands how elements combine and interact and uses this knowledge to construct better, stronger materials and more effective chemicals for Mishhuvurthyar biotechnology (experiments), nanomachines, medical applications, and for his genetic engineering work.

Communication

Xavier is fluent in Trade and Yamataian.

Construction

Xavier can examine and design items on the molecular scale and is proficient in operating the technology used to manipulate atoms and molecules. He is capable of designing and constructing nanoscale devices of considerable complexity and he understands how a nanomachine should work by analyzing its structure and materials.

Fighting

Xavier has always been interested in martial arts and weapons as a hobby. He is proficient in the use of common weapons available to Yamataians and learned SAINT CRIED fighting style from a retired intel operative that taught it on Yamatai.

Mathmatics

Xavier is educated in advanced mathematics and is proficient in the basics as well. His studies focus primarily on mathematical chemistry and atomic physics.

Technology Operations

Xavier is familiar with the structure and operation of neural nets and computers built to run like them. He is also trained in using the Kessaku OS on any PANTHEON equipped computer system and NMX computer systems.
