Physical Description

Yak is muscular and stocky at 5’8. Yak also has tanned skin with a collection of small scars from a lifetime of physical activity. He has amber colored eyes that have a slight slope to them. His human style ears stick out slightly from his head. He has black buzz cut hair.

Personality

Yak is a soldier. Through and through he believes in the Empire of Yamatai but isn’t afraid to point out issues in its leaders if it goes against what he believes would be best. He wishes to become a leader of soldiers so that he can more aptly steer the direction of the nation. However he is content with his place on the line with his fellow man. He abhors laziness and believes every moment should be spent productively. He has a tendency to bite his lip and dig his nails into his palms when thinking. He is slow to anger but once he is there is no stopping him. Brave in the line of duty but cautious in planning. He has few relations with other people due to his intensive preparation for the soldiers life. However he was close to his father who also served before he died. He is polite to most other people but tends to try to end the conversation quickly considering it non-productive.

History

Yak Itae was born in YE 20 in the city of Geshrinopolis, Yamatai \(Planet\). Yak's early childhood was dictated by his father's military service. From the beginning his father and him moved about often. When his father could not take him where he was going Yak was sent to a boarding school. During the times of leave or injury Yak's father told him stories of the empires great heros. When Yak properly went to school he did poorly in most subjects except for history and any physical activity. Recognizing his physical abilities early Yak begin to hone those skills. Despite his involvement and success with any kind of sport he did not become particularly popular. Partly because of his lackluster intelligence but more so because he despised small talk and fruitless activity. So whenever someone approached and attempted to associate themselves with him he would maintain politeness but would seek to end conversations quickly sp he could get back to more productive work. Yak knew he would join the military by the time he turned 13 but his resolve was hardened when his father was killed in a pirate raid only two years later. From that point on he focused purely on ways to make himself useful to the military eventually enlisting and becoming an infantryman.
