Physical Description

- Height: 7'5"
- Mass: 150 pounds
- Hair: Faux Hawk Fade
- Facial Hair: N/A
- Color: Black
- Eye Color: Blue
- Wing Color: Black
- Skin Color: Tan/Caucasian
- Distinguishing Features: Tattoos on his torso in the style of traditional markings of valor, like a mural across his upper body. One of how he defended his family during a home invasion in which he killed a group of ten men after his fathers research. Another was of a lab to signify his work with his family on projects. Another and his most recent is of his recruitment in the Star Army. Though tattoos are frowned upon in his community, the male is very adamant about making sure he fits in wherever he may go. He looks upon them with pride.

Personality

Generally inquisitive, Zazriel makes his rounds inspecting all that he can, taking notes and is quiet about his personal work. Though young, he is determined to bring to his family something to be proud of. There is more than meets the eye however in the case of Zazriel, but above else know that he is modest and faithful to his work. Of course he is also humorous, methodical and companionably, but they're less prominent and often intertwined with being callous as well.

His modesty though, this is what he is often adored for. On many occasions people will count on this and his grace in times of need. Nobody is perfect of course and Zazriel has a range of flaws to deal with too. His irritable nature and crassness can cause things to heat up even at the best of times.

Fortunately his brilliance helps make sure these days are few and far between.

History

Zazriel comes from a Patrician family of well known scientists and medical experts. This family has had their surname scrubbed from official documents due to their work in the Elysian community, including the Caelisolan project. This was done to keep them safe as given names are often shared, but not often are their family names. This was due to a particularly nasty event in which he and his family were taken hostage during a home invasion while he still lived at home. Though young, Zazriel was able to knock out a few of the ones holding them hostage so his family could escape while also disarming the ones that broke in and were already knocked out. His father was being kept alive to download the files of his work onto a data pad for transfer. Zazriel was quick and showed no quarter to them once his other family members were safe. He killed them all one by one in order to keep the projects his family worked on a secret.

Unlike his family however, Zazriel was a wild one. He often took risks that would make him stand out from the crowds even more so than taking his wings and dying them a different color. His tattoos make him more of a pariah among his people, and as such he normally has them hidden from the public eye. Zazriel wanted to be out among the stars and see the universe with his own eyes, to help solve some of medicine's most enigmatic problems, and of course to see beautiful women.

During his time before joining the Star Army he was able to witness a variety of galaxy shaking events. The genocide of his people, the conquering of Hell, and the exodus. The wars his people fought in, while not effecting him directly were the cause of some of his family's most important technological studies. During the battle of Elysia Zazriel was off planet in a bunker with his family. He hated having to wait it out, he wanted to help...even though it was not his own people he was wanting to help.

Zazriel was drawn to the Yamatai culture when he reached the age of seventeen. After the Battle of Elysia, however was he able to actually pursue his interests. Once in the capital he found himself seduced by the lights and fun culture of the people. Seduced by a female Neko with brown hair, whom to this day he still searches for, he was brought within the very grasps of perhaps even his final breaths. Broken and without money or a real direction he joined the Yamatai Star Empire because of the humble musical Minkan family, the Yorks. They told him to pursue justice and to always be the bigger man. So with a newfound purpose the Patrician entered the Star Army Basic Training. He found he excelled just like his father in the medical sciences field and as such he found friends and enemies as he pursued the path of becoming a doctor. Hearing rumors and reading the news while he trained he came up with a new goal. Now with an aim to become apart of the military\_police\_division so that he could stop the misfortune he went through from happening to someone else.

At the age of 21 he graduated from basic training to work in the field, mostly in Kyoto. He is highly sought after and is an accomplished military police officer as well as renowned medic within the Star Army. Among his peers he is seen as a leader without equal, and to fellow medics twice his age he is seen as a genius. This has brought him both admiration and even the ire of those around him. One particular enemy he has made was a minkan male by the name of Dan Smothers, a soldier that used his position as a starport guard to extort helpless merchants out their own coin.

At the age of 39 he has now received orders to be placed on the latest ship the YSS Wyvern as his first official assignment outside the planet. He was officially supposed to be an assistant to the doctor of the ship until he arrived on site and found that the ship had lost their doctor due to a slip up in logistics. Seeing as it was a new ship with a crew of Military Police Zazriel was made the doctor of the new ship and promptly shown his quarters before setting up to begin the physicals of the crew of the ship.

He has found his calling as the head doctor of the ship and the crewmen aboard have their lives in his hands.

He will not fail.

Skills Learned

Star Army Common Skills

- Medical & Science- Zazriel has received extensive training in the feilds of both medical practices, and scientific uses of many products and surgeries. He takes pride in his work, and will not cut corners when it comes to the health of the crew that he is stationed with.
