

Phoenix Crew

The Crew of the Durandium Phoenix inhabiting and working within the ship since its reconstruction in YE 44.7.^{1\)}

About the Crew

Bridge Crew

Tammo Sheath	Captain of the Durandium Phoenix
Alexandra Blade	First Officer
Sara Gofasta!	Helm
Maki Tachibana	Sensors/navigator
Leana Morse	Communications
Victor Reaper	Weapons
EX28-C666	Chief Cyber Warfare Operator

Captain

As the captain of the Durandium Phoenix, Captain Sheath is responsible for the entire crew aboard the ship. The safety of the crew is one of their most important duties.

First officer

The second highest rank on the ship, and likely would be the one the Captain delegates tasks to. The First officer also alerts the captain to certain situations that may occur without the captain knowing²⁾. The delegation also comes from them, as they order Mission Operations on tasks, and also Security to apprehend certain individuals.

Helms Operator

The Helms Operator is a big fancy Pilot with an officer rank. They are responsible for making the ship move, which in turn leads those in the fleet. They have to be attentive, and aware of their surroundings, as well as able to listen for issues in travel. Also Due to some NDC influences, the Helm's Operator also uses navigators

Sensors and Navigation

The Sensors Station allows for the crew to see outside the ship, they will be able to detect planets, asteroids, and other ships in the vicinity. Since the Colonial fleet is indeed massive, the sensors are carefully tuned not to pick up the other allied ships. Of course, they are picked up if they get too close to the ship. Sensors and Navigation go hand in hand, as the Navigators also use sensors to pick up where the ship had appeared and where astral bodies were. This is also done with the Astrometrics Bay on the ship.

Communications Station

The Communications Station allows for inter-ship communications, and receiving of messages and other data. Orders from Commanding Officers are also transferred from the Communication Station.

Weapons

The Weapons are the Offensive tools of war used by the ship to cause damage to enemy ships. But they aren't just the lasers and missiles, but also the Cyberwarfare suite attached to the ship. For the weapons, the personnel in charge of this station are carefully checked.

Cyberwarfare Operator

Led by EX28-C666, the [Cyberwarfare Operators are a series of thousands of Infomorph AI units without bodies. This Digital army is capable of digitally transferring themselves to a targeted ship and causing problems for the crew. They are capable of engaging in some of the following aggressive behaviors when aboard hostile ships.

- Body Hijack
- Data Theft
- Sabotage

Non-Bridge Crew

The Following Members of the Crew don't exactly operate on the Bridge as much as most of the ship.

Security

The Night Guard is the security force of the Mining Guild as a result every member of the crew is a member of security. But acknowledging that some needs were as important as others, Tammo has chosen a select elite group to serve as security for the ship.

Lieutenant Commander

LEVEL	4
UR71-X5145 ⁴⁾

LT Cmdr UR71-X5145 is the leader of the ship's security force. While he does have the rank, he leads the security force, as Tammo is the leader of the Night Guard, and the ship's first officer, is his superior. He is directly below the First officer, and the Captain of commander or chief, so he sometimes also assists them with administrative tasks.

Lieutenant

LEVEL	3+
Blayde

A lieutenant is even more highly trained and higher-paid. A lieutenant acts as a middleman between higher command levels and lower-ranking levels. Also, a lieutenant may assist the higher levels of command with certain tasks as an assistant.

Sergeant

LEVEL	3+
Named Sergeant:	Grumpy

A sergeant is a supervisor to lower-ranking security guards. They typically have more experience and training than a senior security officer.

Security Officer

LEVEL	2
Numbers in rank:	100+
Named Security Officers:	Drake, Richard Grayson, Bill, Dawn, Mira,

A security officer is a level above a Bay Watch and is still an entry-level position. A security officer has a larger scope of duties. Even so, they are elite trained.

Bay Watch

LEVEL	1
Number:	5

The Dock Watch are security guards assigned to watch over the Bay areas of the Ship. They are the gatekeepers, and they keep the dark-aligned rabble from entering to cause trouble.

Medical

Treya Nissiom	Chief Medical Officer
Charaa Sillygoof	Medical officer
Harmony	Ship's Counselor

The Medical Staff works to make sure that the ship personnel are healthy or are fit for service. They are a small unit due to being supplimented by the Autodocs but there are personnel here, who operate the autodocs, to make sure they are doing the correct work, and their patients are taken care of.

Medical Officers

Medical Officers, also called 🧑 Physicians are those who give checkups and see how people are health-wise. Depending on their race they might be able to use their skills to heal injuries.

Autodocs

The Autodocs are the ship's supplementary medical force. They are able to perform an all-in-one procedure that allows for money to be spent on other things.

Nutritionist

Nutritionists make sure that the crew are eating well, and especially depending on their species.

Engineering

Terry	Chief of Engineering
Rebupe	Plumber
Neyla	Technician
B1ck	Synth Technician

The Engineers are the people responsible for the upkeep of the ship. They make sure that everything works, and that there are no concerns.

Oiler

 Oilers's job is to oil the machines to make sure that those with moving parts can work efficiently .

Plumbers

[s]Plumbers are a intergalactic law enforcement officials that[/s] The  Plumbers are the ones that make sure that the pipes and plumbing are working as they should be.

Maintenance Technician

Primary duties: Maintenance technicians upkeep the machinery on the ship. They keep every machine and part working, from the heating and air conditioning to the kitchen and appliances as well as the lights to the ship itself. They also focus on equipment and vehicles. They conduct routine inspections, troubleshoot issues, and coordinate repairs to sustain operational readiness.

Synth Technician

Synth Technicians,⁵⁾ are the “Medical Officers” of the ship, they make sure that the non-Infomorph AI's bodies are in working order, and they also work on the Starbreakers, to make sure they are working well as well.

Phoenix Away Team

The Phoenix away teams are members who leave the ship to go on missions either on planets or on a space station. Though these could easily be made from personnel from the other members of Delta Fleet, or the rest of the Colonial initiative⁸⁾. There are some from the capital ship that desired to go investigate places. These individuals were given designations

PG1

PG1 \(Phoenix Away Team 1\) is the flagship team for the Capital Ship. It is this team that goes on away missions for the first time. Performing first contact, assault/rescues or even servey missions, and exploration.

PG2

For second contact this team is sent, to continue diplomatic talks and such diplomatic activities.

PG3

PG3 is not actually a real team, as it's mainly used for media, like celebrity activities, basically, they show off what the night Guard does, to hype recruitment, and the possibility of serving onboard ships.
