About the Murasaki Keiretsu

"Looking Towards That Far Horizon."

The origins of the Murasaki Keiretsu can be traced back over a century prior the establishment of the Yamatai Star Empire, forming around the Murasaki Clan's original Trinary Star Shipping company. That original company and the larger Keiretsu's corporate headquarters are based upon White Harbor Station - now located within the Anisa System system.

In the past the Trinary Star Shipping companies growth accelerated after several successful and lucrative trade deals. Word of the companies reliability began to spread, bringing the organization to the forefront of civilian shipping and trading within the Kikyo Sector. Using much of their accumulated wealth the Murasaki Clan has over the last few decades expanded their trading fleets assets and begun to diversify their collective holdings by forming new subsidiary companies and assuming control of others. This has resulted in their assets evolving from their original trading and shipping fleet to a moderate-sized and successful multinational conglomerate with interests in general trade, mining, tech development, manufacturing and vehicle construction.

The Shachō (President / CEO) of the Keiretsu and Daimyō of the Murasaki Clan is presently Murasaki Ryosei.

Plans for the Future

The Murasaki Keiretsu has entered into a new growth phase – expanding beyond its previous interests in just shipping and deep-space mining. The organization has begun to venture into the fields of tech development, machinery export, ship design and manufacture as well as biological and medicinal research.

There are also further plans being developed to expand into the fields of agriculture and planetary colonization in the wake of Hoshi no Iori's destruction and the subsequent loss of its food exportation.
