

Type 3 High Energy Xaser (HEX)Weapon

The Type 3, designed by NovaCorp originally for the No-C1-1b - Mersina General Cruiser, is more powerful than the basic Type 1 and is housed within turrets to accent versatility. The weapon fires photons in a tight beam, like a 'laser', yet into the extreme end of the electro-magnetic spectrum, in the area reserved into the area of gamma and cosmic ways. Indeed the term 'HEX' is not particularly correct but retained due to aesthetic purposes. The energy is highly penetrating and especially damaging to circuits and organics. The turrets takes the form of smooth domes with only a gentle incline from the hull.

Payload Effectively infinite as long as the generators are activated. Rate of Fire: One beam lasting two seconds with a one second interval between beams
