About the Pizza Boyz

Pizza Boyz, whose full legal entity name is Pizza Boyz Combination Pizzeria and Orphanage, was created in YE 40 to give a home to the surging number of orphans and cut down on juvenile delinquency in Funky City. It was originally just an orphanage running under a grant from an anonymous benefactor, until the money started to dry up.

From the start, the orphans were constantly running away and getting into trouble with law enforcement. The manager, Joe Mortar, realized that the orphanage's financial troubles and the rate of juvenile delinquency had a common solution: turn the orphanage into a pizza delivery service. They used the last of the grant money to buy 3 broken down military surplus vehicles, a barely-working fridge, and a pile of ingredients. Joe, having been previously a moderately successful mechanic, took the cars apart and put together one working car, with extra body panels from the other cars to serve as cheap armor. Additionally, he used one of the engines from the other cars to build a rudimentary fusion-powered pizza oven.

At first it was hard getting any traction, but once people realized that the Pizza Boyz were ready, willing, and able to deliver to the worst parts of Funky City (within their service region), they gained a loyal customer base that has kept them afloat ever since.

OOC Notes

Note that the service area is not well-defined. This is deliberate so that we can maintain the illusion that they can reasonably deliver within 30 minutes, without getting too specific about where they actually can do this.
