

Rokheus & Surma Equipment and Logistics Support

Started by former Nepleslian Arms & Munitions engineer Ale Rokheus and his head of security Erika Surma, Rokheus & Surma Equipment and Logistics Support is a small company engaged in the manufacturing of weapons and logistical support.

With delivery of products by several Nepleslian companies being threatened by street violence and “enhanced competitive strategies” by rival corporations, RSELS has also focused its attention to providing “logistical support” to companies looking to ensure a safe and timely arrival of highly important and sometimes sensitive material.

This is accomplished through RSELS’ Logistics Support Groups. Divided into four major groups, Logistical Support Employees are contracted throughout Leon City to provide armed security at levels as high as a company’s convoy or down to individual vehicles. Logistics Support Group employees are primarily hired from former SMDIoN Marines and DIoN police forces and are provided housing and training in Leon City.

For extra security, companies and even certain individuals can elect to hire a Logistics Support Group and the company’s Mechanized Transport Division, which currently employs various common vehicles, specializing in the secure transportation of either transport of goods or individuals.

In YE 36, Rokheus & Surma gained the rights to produce updated versions of the old ELEMENTAL Power Armor line for commercial sale.
