

Heavy Subspace Encased Positron Tunneling Cannon

Once in the hands of the Mishhuvurthyar, this Heavy SEPTC was intended to penetrate shielding and matter almost instantly upon use. Shield type seems to be irrelevant, as this weapon can cause massive damage while also draining the ship by releasing a strong pulse of positive power. Due to the addition of an Aether Reactor working with the Antimatter Reactor and the removal of the Interdiction Drive, the ship now has the necessary energy and antimatter production capacity to fire this devastating weapon without the 7 minute waiting period of the D Gun.

To avoid massive overkill, this gun was given a second setting to mimic the effects of a Light SEPTC. The data was taken from an actual Light SEPTC which Toshiro also had possession of.
