

Zen Armaments 10mm Submachine Pistol

Overview

Also rarely seen. A solid piece, but don't drop it on the magazine. The fold-down grip is practically a necessity; firing 10 mm full-auto is hard enough without a stock. A favorite of the Red Army, supposedly.

It should be noted that this gun looks odd – the location of the bolt suggests it must collapse on itself to load a fresh cartridge, and the placement of it so far back could be very annoying for someone firing from the hip (spent cases being ejected into an arm, for instance).

Damage ratings:

- DRv3 Tier 1
