

Himmel Colonial Governments

As part of the path towards becoming a member system of the Abwehran Star Empire, colonized systems are required to create system-wide governments in order to satisfy part of the requirements. The Himmel Der Bergleute System, on the other hand, has three such government vying for power. The Empire has developed a policy not to interfere with their colonists self-determination, but might if the conflict becomes too violent. According to a recent study, the system of Himmel der Bergleute is the least stable area in the Empire.

Himmel Trade Council

A council of Corporate Representatives located on Himmel Trade, the council has a representative from each major business on the station (sans State-Owned Enterprises). This council has declared itself the system government, even though it is only responsible for administration of Non-CSAA enterprises onboard Himmel Trade. While it considers itself to be a council for the people, many consider the Himmel Trade Council to be an oligarchy of the highest order.

The Abwehran Star Empire has not recognized it as the system government.

Heavenly Fields Federation

A collection of Asteroid Facilities or groups of Asteroid Facilities that are spread out across the Heavenly Fields Asteroid Field, the Heavenly Fields Federation is another system government looking to be declared the system government of Himmel der Bergleute. Each Asteroid or group of Asteroids has declared its own sovereignty, so to speak, and have gathered together to form a mostly unified front against the Corporate Fascists and the Wandering Horde. Some Asteroid Facilities are run by a direct democracy, others are under the command of a single individual elected from the populace<sup>1)</sup>, and many more are family/clan-owned enterprises. Believing they are the true power of the System, since they were the ones that gather the system's main exports, the Heavenly Fields Federation runs on the assumption that each facility or group of facilities are equal in power and authority with a single facility elected from the Federation to represent them all.

Himmel Dodecarchy

The Himmel Dodecarchy is a collection of twelve convoy fleets that travel the space of Himmel der Bergleute. Each Fleet is run by a Chief, normally the eldest Captain of the fleet, with each fleet having an elected council. Each Chief represents their fleet in a Council of Twelve and this Council of Twelve represents all of the fleets in the system, believing that they are the true system government. While the Himmel Trade Council is a central organization and the Heavenly Fields Federation numerous, the Himmel Dodecarchy is literally everywhere in the system. As a nomadic group, they are the main trade carriers of the system and everything would halt to a stand-still without them.

The Abwehran Star Empire has not recognized it as the system government.
